HOPE LIES IN PRESIDENT

The Chances for Terminating the War Are Improved.

PRESSURE BY POWERS

Renewed Effort Made to Bring About Acceptance of a Compromise.

JAPAN CLINGS TO INDEMNITY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 20.—The chances of peace have undoubtedly been improved by President Roosevelt's action in stepping into the breach in a last heroic endeavor to induce the warring countries to compromise their "irreconcilable differences," but the result is still in suspense.

The ultimate decision of the issue has de facto if not de jure passed from the plenipotentiaries to their principals, from Portsmouth to St. Petersburg, and perhaps in a lesser extent to Tokyo. Although there are collateral evidences that pressure both by President Roosevelt and neutral powers, including Japan's ally, Great Britain, whose minister, Sir Claude MacDonald, according to advices received here, had a long conference this afternoon with Mr. Katsura, the Japanese premier, is still being exerted in Tokyo to induce Japan to moderate her demands, there is also reason to believe that President Roosevelt was able at this interview with Baron de Rosen to practically communicate to the latter's senior, M. Witte, Japan's irreducible minimum—what she would yield, but the point beyond which she would not go.

May End in Failure.

Whether an actual basis of compromise was proposed by the president cannot be stated definitely. The only thing that can be affirmed positively is that if Russia refuses to act upon the suggestion or proposition of President Roosevelt, the peace conference will end in failure.

And in the Russian camp little encouragement is given. Baron de Rosen reached here, after an all-night ride from Oyster Bay, shortly before noon and immediately went into conference with M. Witte. They remained closeted together for almost three hours, during which the whole situation was reviewed. Baron de Rosen communicated to his chief the president's message and it was transmitted to the emperor, together with M. Witte's recommendation. No clue to the nature of this recommendation has transpired. But it can be stated that M. Witte, no matter how he personally may view the proposition, is distinctly pessimistic as to the character of the response which will come from St. Petersburg. To a confidential friend this afternoon he offered little hope of a change in the situation.

Clinging to Indemnity.

The Japanese, it is firmly believed, cling to the substance if not the form of this demand for remuneration for "the cost of the war." Perhaps they are willing to decrease the sum asked, but substantial compensation under whatever guise it is obtained, they decline to relinquish. And they are also firm upon the cession of Sakhalin. By the transfer of the southern branch of the Chinese Eastern railway first to Japan for relinquishment to China, payment for the maintenance of the Russian prisoners and the surrender of the Russian warships, it is possible to figure out a total transfer to Japan in money and property of about $250,000,000. But this is the limit.

The Japanese, as usual, are very reticent, and it is impossible to obtain from them the least indication of their view of the change in the situation produced by the president's action. It is taken for granted that the president's appeal was made to Japan as well as to Russia, but the Japanese side of the negotiations looking to a compromise is almost completely in the dark. It is assumed that Baron Kaneko was able to explain the Japanese views to the president. If the president is successful with Russia it may be that he must then turn to Japan.

Japanese View Is Humorous.

That would be the natural course if he has suggested to Russia what he regards as a fair compromise and has undertaken, if Russia accepts, to use his influence to induce Japan to accept. But it is not probable that he was able to assure M. Witte in advance of Japan's agreement to accept. Nevertheless, Mr. Takahira today spoke as if he might be called to Oyster Bay. He would only say positively that he had as yet received no summons.

The Japanese view of the situation is authoritatively but rather humorously stated thus: "The result will be known soon. It is useless to speculate. As well for the physician to give his opinion of the sex of the unborn infant. When the child is born we will be able to tell whether it is a boy or a girl."

Emperor Nicholas' decision, upon which the fate of the conference seems now to hang, will, according to the best informed Russians, depend upon conditions at home and these conditions they do not believe are propitious. The two big factors are the internal conditions and the reports from the front as to the military situations. The former has been ameliorated by last Saturday's manifesto, and the character of the reports received by his majesty from Manchuria are known to be accordingly good.

Army Opposed to Peace.

Gen. Linevitch has expressed absolute confidence in victory and since the conference began he and his generals have

TINY TRAIN IS WRECKED

THREE VICTIMS MAY DIE

A realistic but serious feature was added to the miniature railroad in Kennywood park last night, when the tiny engine was ditched, wrecking the train and injuring 10 passengers, of whom three may die. The injured are as follows:

HENRY SLOEDICK, machine manager for the H. J. Heinz Company; left shoulder dislocated, left ear torn and left hip bruised.

W. R. HUGHES, left hip torn.

T. J. LESLIE, spine broken and left hip injured.

MISS LOUISE WATKINS, left ankle sprained, knee lacerated and back injured.

JULIA HILL, injured internally.

JAY FEE, a Chinaman, three fingers of left hand crushed.

All live at 810 Cedar avenue, Allegheny, with the exception of Miss Watkins, whose home is in East Liverpool, O., and who was visiting Mrs. Hill; Fee who lives in Homestead, and Miss Lloyd, who lives in Frankstown avenue.

Hughes managed to save his 2-year-old baby from injury by holding it high in the air when the cars jumped. Henry Sloedick, Leslie and Julia Hill are said to be in a critical condition.

As a special attraction, scenically, the miniature railway is equipped with a 50-foot tunnel, and it was while taking a sharp curve in emerging from this tunnel that the engine jumped the track and carried its string of six cars with it, throwing them over an embankment and into a heap with their human freight.

Immediately after the accident hundreds of pleasure seekers on the grounds gathered about the spot and lent what aid they could. Dr. Mark Baldwin of Homestead, who was in the crowd, dressed the wounds of the injured temporarily. Mrs. Hughes fainted and became completely prostrated and her condition is serious. The report spread that two of the victims had been killed, and the greatest excitement prevailed for a time among the spectators. After being given temporary medical attention, the Alleghenians injured were placed aboard a special car furnished by the street railway company and taken to 810 Cedar street, Allegheny. During the excitement Mrs. Hill lost a valuable gold watch.

NATION'S CADETS IN CAMP.

Annual Outing of the War College Students Now in Progress on the Hudson.

FISHKILL LANDING, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—West Point shifted 10 miles up the river today and this afternoon the entire corps of cadets, with about 100 soldeirs of the regular army, are in a tented city at Fishkill, where Washington mapped the campaign of the Hudson during the revolution.

Coming up this morning the cavalry and artillery had a race, going by different roads. The cavalry won. There is a train of 15 wagons with supplies, five pieces of artillery and a signal corps. Six companies of cadets form the camp. Fully three thousand visitors were at camp this afternoon.

LORD CURZON QUITS SERVICE

QUARREL WITH KITCHENER

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedleston as viceroy of India, and the appointment of the earl of Minto as his successor, was announced at the India office tonight.

According to the correspondence, which is issued in the form of a white book, it appears that Lord Curzon's resignation was cabled to that office on August 12. The correspondence shows a decidedly bitter feeling between Lord Curzon, the India office and Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the forces in India, over the new plan of army administration in India. Lord Curzon's dissatisfaction came to a head with the refusal of the cabinet to appoint Maj.-Gen. Sir Edmund Barrow, on Lord Curzon's recommendation, military supply member of the council.

Replying on August 2 to the refusal of Mr. Broderick, secretary of state for India, to make this appointment, Lord Curzon requests that the government reconsider its decision, "in order to enable me to accept the responsibility which I infer his majesty's government still desires me to assume."

Mr. Broderick again refused to comply with the request for the appointment of Maj.-Gen. Barrow and Lord Curzon replied as follows:

"It is apparent that his majesty's government deny me that confidence which alone can enable me to serve them, and attach a fundamentally different interpretation from myself to the modifications, upon the acceptance of which alone I consented to remain in office. The situation, therefore, remains where it was when I resigned in June. If the government are unable to accept my views, I request the premier to place my resignation in the hands of his majesty."

To this, Mr. Broderick replied that there was a request from Mr. Balfour that Lord Curzon reconsider his determination. In a final dispatch, however, dated August 12, Lord Curzon says:

"The main question is not the choice of individual but one of the principles underlying a future change in our administration. I am reluctantly driven to the conclusion that the policy of his majesty's government is based on principles that I could not conscientiously carry into execution. In the interest of the new organization, it is desirable that I should be relieved of my duties with as little delay as possible."

To this Mr. Balfour replied that he had "with the most profound regret submitted Lord Curzon's resignation to the king."

JAPANESE WARSHIPS MAKING DEMONSTRATION

GODZYADANI, MANCHURIA, Aug. 20.—A small squadron of Japanese cruisers is cruising off the shore of Kamchatka. Armed schooners and torpedo boats continue demonstrating all along the Siberian coast. Gen. Linevitch announces to the inhabitants of the Amur region that there is no present cause for anxiety or fear as the entire region is quiet.

China Raises a Loan.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says that a dispatch from Pekin announces that China has raised a loan of $2,400,000 in Belgium, for the service of Lunan railway.

MAYOR DUNNE UNDER ARREST

Chicago's Chief Executive Is Charged With Violating the Speed Ordinance.

HIS CHAUFFEUR PAYS FINE

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Mayor Edward F. Dunne of Chicago was arrested this afternoon in the suburb of Evanston for violation of the ordinance regulating the speed of automobiles.

The mayor, in company with John Boylston, was riding through Evanston when he was stopped by a policeman, who accused the chauffeur, Edward Sykes, of going too fast. All three occupants of the auto were taken to the Evanston police station. The mayor remained outside the station in the automobile, while the other two went in to appear before the justice.

"I don't know anything about the speed of these things," said the mayor, "but I don't think we were going very fast. However, we may have been, and I guess we will have to pay our fine like anybody else."

Sykes was unable to decide whether he should pay the fine of $10 which was placed against him by the justice, and came out to consult the mayor about it.

"Go ahead and pay the fine," advised the mayor. It was paid and the machine moved away after Mayor Dunne had solicitously inquired concerning the speed limit in his own city, saying that he did not desire to be arrested again.

PANIC REIGNS AT SERVICES

Platform Bearing 500 Collapses During Corner Stone Laying.

NO ONE BADLY HURT

Wild Excitement Prevails at Celebration of Orthodox Russian Jews.

ONE RABBI SAVES ANOTHER

Accompanied by cries and screams that could be heard for squares away, and which brought thousands to the scene, a platform bearing between 400 and 500 men, women and children, who were attending the corner stone laying of Beth David Russian Hebrew Orthodox synagogue in Miller street, collapsed, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and, closing like a jackknife, dropped its huge burden of human lives into the cellar, 12 feet below.

Immediately pandemonium reigned. The imprisoned mass of humanity fought and struggled to gain the street, while hundreds of spectators frantically endeavored to lend aid. Meanwhile, scores of friends and relatives of those thought to be hurt, for all lived in the neighborhood, made the excitement greater by their sobs and outcries. While many were bruised and slightly cut the marvel of it all is that only one man, a policeman, suffered other than trifling injury. The officer sustained only a sprained ankle and a bruise upon his left side.

Many Wild Reports Follow.

A moment after the crash word was sent to Central police station and a platoon of officers was at once sent to the scene. They lent their aid in extricating many who were pinned under planks and beams, and carried out several women who had fainted. While the excitement was at its height, a report spread that six children had been crushed to death. Immediately a score of anxious mothers made frantic efforts to enter the ruins, and were only prevented by determined action on the part of the police.

The laying of the corner stone was set for 2 o'clock. Previous to this service a parade of Zionist societies, including 800 men, formed in Fulton street and marched to the site of the synagogue, headed by a brass band. Reaching the synagogue the marchers met a crowd of 300 spectators, among whom were Rabbis A. M. Ashinsky, Saul S. Gradzman, and Sol Bloom, and the officers of the congregation, seated on a platform about 30x50 feet, which had been laid across the foundation for the new building.

Saves His Brother Rabbi.

The music of the band soon swelled the crowd, and the platform was overcrowded in a few moments. It was decided that each marching Zionist should sign his name to a parchment which was to be placed in the corner stone. For this purpose a table had been placed in the center of the platform around which sat the three rabbis and the officers of the congregation.

As the first delegation of marchers stepped upon the platform to sign their names, and as the band was playing an inspiring air, the crowd, which had been held in check by policemen, surged forward to witness the signing of the document. The additional weight was too much. Accompanied by a crackling that sounded like the discharge of firearms, the whole front section of the platform collapsed.

OLD THEATER WALL FALLS

CALAMITY IS AVERTED

Gang Is Ordered from Cellar Only a Few Minutes Before the Crash Comes.

INVESTIGATION IS PROMISED

In the ruins of the old Avenue theater in Fifth avenue 13 men tumbled last night when a section of wall upon which they were working collapsed. All were more or less injured, but none of them seriously. All were taken to the Homeopathic hospital in ambulances and patrol wagons. Most of those injured are Italian laborers. Their names follow:

TONY ALLON, aged 36, single, 542 Second avenue; contusion of the back.

JOHN MOTT, aged 17, single, 5 Oliver avenue; body lacerations.

GEORGE SHADE, aged 37, married, 2029 Second avenue; contusion of the back and deep lacerations of the scalp.

FRANK FLOWER, aged 36, married, 1109 Hamilton street; scalp wounds and lacerations of both shoulders.

JOHN MEDINCIDO, aged 35, married, 5 Oliver avenue; bad contusions of the back, and face painfully lacerated.

KARL GEIST, aged 18, single, Knox street; contusion of the right hip. Able to go home after having wounds dressed.

DOMINICK JEAN, aged 31, single, 321 Wylie avenue; right arm cut and bruised. Went home after having wounds dressed.

LARRY BELL, aged 24, single, Oliver avenue; back and left wrist lacerated. Went home after having wounds dressed.

TONY JEREMI, aged 18, single, 4 Oliver avenue; left leg and shoulder contused.

JOHN BUCKA, aged 30, 4 Oliver avenue; contusions of the right leg. Went home after having wounds dressed.

PETER MAZI, aged 29, 4 Oliver avenue; fractured ribs, broken shoulder blade and internal injuries.

FRANK DENARE, aged 28, 140 Second avenue; slight contusions. Went home.

FRANK SAX, aged 39, single, Tunnel street; sprained ankle, lacerated scalp, shoulders and body.

Four Still in the Hospital.

Those most seriously hurt are Mott, Sax, Shade, Flower and Medincido. They will be confined to the hospital for some time with their injuries, but it is not thought any of them will die as a result of the fall.

It was a few minutes before 7 o'clock last evening when the long wall that formerly stood between the lobby of the Grand theater and the cafe owned by Harry Davis fell toward Wood street. On the wooden beams resting on this wall and another were workmen engaged in digging out the end of the beams preparatory to wrecking the wall. The men are employed by Thomas J. Egan, the Bluff street contractor.

The falling walls carried down the beams and the men pitched into the debris. A thick dust arose immediately after the crash and from the depths of the ruins could be heard the cries of the injured Italians. In less than 10 minutes all were out and placed in the two ambulances and two patrol wagons that hurried them to the hospital.

Police Hold Crowd in Check.

Hundreds of people in Fifth avenue and adjacent thoroughfares heard the din of the falling walls, and the rattle of the hurrying wagons attracted scores. A squad of police from Central station kept the street clear and prevented pedestrians who were curious from getting inside the ropes.

That the accident did not prove a real calamity is due to the carefulness of Contractor Egan. All yesterday afternoon a gang of about 40 men was at work in the cellar of the old theater. When work on the removal of the heavy joists commenced he ordered every one out of the cellar. Had this not been done it is likely more than a score of laborers would have been crushed under the crumbling wall.

No time was lost after the excitement subsided in ripping out what remained of the wall. Part of it was left standing in the rear of the ruins land up against the north wall of the Grand theater, and with ropes the workmen soon pulled it over. The gang was in charge of Foreman Fred Moreth of 328 Fredberry street.

Chief Building Inspector E. A. Dilg and Inspector Mawhinney looked over the building last night and said they would make an inspection today.

BOYCOTT IS INEFFECTUAL.

American Glass Company Gets Big Orders from China and Increases Its Local Plant.

When China put up the bars to American goods it was not realized that it was too late. John has learned to eat his rice and chop suey from glass dishes made on this side of the Pacific, and now, despite the efforts at boycotting this country, orders from the far east have been coming to the American Glass Company in such quantity that it has been found necessary to install a new furnace to meet the increased demand.

At the Glassport plant a new patent furnace will be completed in about six weeks. The local concern is greatly surprised about the orders from China, but Superintendent L. A. Bryce says that if further additions to the plant are necessary, they will be promptly made.

FOLLOWS EXAMPLE OF J. A. THOMPSON

Another Suicide in Philadelphia Park Is Similar to That of Last Week.

THE VICTIMS WERE FRIENDS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 20.

With many similar circumstances and with the idea probably suggested by the sensational suicide last week of Joseph A. Thompson of 1508 South Hicks street, the brother of the Pittsburgh millionaire, William Webster Hoopes ended his life this morning in Fairmount park.

Hoopes, who boarded at 1214 Taskar street, was a friend of Mr. Thompson, or Thomas, as he was known, and like him made a slight change in his name, taking that of Hooper. He left several notes saying that he could not get work and that he would give up his life for the sake of his family, and then took cyanide of potassium. His children, a boy, Moreau, aged 14, and a girl, Muriel, aged 5, will be cared for by the suicide's brother, just as Mr. Thompson's widow and younger children will be assisted by his brother.

It is also probable that Hoopes' brooding on suicide was fostered by an article, written by a minister, decrying life as the gift of hate, instead of love. The article, found in one of the man's pockets, begins by asking if life is worth the living, and after presenting morose views of work and likening man to a slave, concludes: "And so it goes until death steps in and sets the prisoner free."

Hoopes, who was a paper cutter, was out of work for the last 15 months, and in one of his notes says that he and his boy "are starving." He lived at 1810 South Camac street until three weeks ago, when he took rooms with his boy, at 1214 Tasker street, under the name of Hooper.

Late last night he kissed his son good bye and left the house. About 6 o'clock this morning a watchman found his dead body on the grass in front of the site of the new bandstand, which is being constructed at Strawberry Mansion. A number of notes found in his pockets gave his identity and the cause of his act.

FOUR CHINAMEN WOUNDED IN BATTLE IN NEW YORK

Warring Secret Societies Start Shooting in a House Containing 200 Persons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Another battle of the warring Chinese secret societies was fought in Chinatown tonight. As a result two men were taken to a hospital with serious but not necessarily fatal bullet wounds, and two more were slightly injured. The latter, with five others, were locked up until the police shall have had time to straighten out the many tangled versions of the affair.

The police are inclined to think that the victims are members of the On Leong Tong, who were soon to appear against the members of the Hip Song Tong, to which the recent Chinatown theater murders have been attributed.

The shooting occurred in a house on Pell street, said to be the headquarters of the On Leong Tong. When the police, attracted by the sound of firing, arrived, they found in the house 200 Chinamen, four of whom were wounded.

YOUNG GIRL RECOVERS POWER OF LOCOMOTION

Remarkable Cure Reported of a Girl Who Had Not Walked in Twelve Years.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YORK, PA., Aug. 20.—A remarkable case of the recovery of the use of power of locomotion was that today when Ethel Vandersloot, daughter of Edward F. Vandersloot of this city, who had not walked in 12 years, said to her father:

"Papa, I want to get up and walk," straightened up, raised her feet and proceeded to cross the room unaided.

For a dozen years she had been an invalid, and for the first time in six years the girl ate dinner with her parents at the table today. The best physicians in this city pronounced her case hopeless, and the father has spent thousands of dollars in the effort to effect a cure.

Mr. Vandersloot says that he knows of no other reason to which he might ascribe her cure than that of the prayers of his friends. Physicians have been unable to diagnose her ailment.

HOPE LIES IN PRESIDENT---CHANCES OF ENDING THE WAR

not only reassured his majesty that the army was never in better condition, but they have actually sent messages to M. Witte imploring him not to make peace. They demand an opportunity to retrieve the "honor and prestige" of the army and in a country where the army is the bulwark of the government, the wishes of its generals are not lightly to be disregarded by their sovereign.

Not only to make peace, but to pay tribute to the enemy would, therefore, be a very difficult task for the emperor, notwithstanding his love of and desire for peace.

It is significant in this connection that M. Witte took occasion today to formally deny the published reports from St. Petersburg to the effect that at a meeting of the council for the national defense, presided over by the Grand Duke Nicholas, the impossibility of reconquering Sakhalin or defending the Amur province has been recognized and that in consequence of this the emperor has telegraphed M. Witte to come to an understanding with the Japanese. M. Witte said:

May Delay Proceedings.

"The report is a pure invention. There is not a word of truth in it. The national council for defense has held no meeting. The Grand Duke Nicholas never uttered a statement like that attributed to him. On the contrary the news from Gen. Linevitch is entirely reassuring. I am not a military man, and I cannot, therefore, give advice or express opinions on military affairs, but what I know is that the whole Russian army and especially Gen. Linevitch, his officers and the soldiers under their command are most insistent that peace should not be concluded."

The issue will not necessarily be decided on Tuesday. Indeed, it is quite likely that there may be some delay in the answer from St. Petersburg, in which case an excuse will be found to adjourn the meetings over from day to day. The Japanese will not be impatient, but the final decision will without doubt come this week. One of the members of the Japanese mission tonight expressed the opinion that whether a treaty was signed or not the conference would complete its labors by the end of the week. "Once the bases are agreed to," said he, "few details remain to be arranged." He added that he did not believe any member of the mission would go to Oyster Bay. "The president," said he, "fully understands our position."

After his conference with M. Witte, Baron de Rosen went to Magnolia in an automobile and will not return until tomorrow. Several of the Japanese and Russian attaches made a cruise on the Mayflower in the afternoon as guests of Commander Winslow. M. Witte took an outing in an auto-car. When he was about 10 miles from the hotel one of the tires burst and there was some delay in getting a conveyance to bring him to the hotel.

The Russian chief plenipotentiary complained that he was not feeling very well tonight, but said there was nothing serious the matter with him. Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira attended church in Portsmouth tonight.

President Suggests Arbitration.

The Associated Press is able to announce that the feature of the proposition of President Roosevelt, communicated through Baron de Rosen to M. Witte, and transmitted by the latter to Emperor Nicholas, was based on the principle of arbitration. Whether the proposal contemplates arbitration of all the articles upon which the plenipotentiaries have failed to agree, or only upon the question of indemnity, cannot be stated with positiveness, but it is more than probable that it relates only to indemnity, or to indemnity and the cession of the island of Sakhalin. Neither is it possible to say whether the president has yet made a similar proposition to Japan.

The customary diplomatic proceedings in such a case would be to submit the proposal simultaneously to both countries, but there might be an advantage in securing the adherence of one before submitting it to the other. To Emperor Nicholas, the author of The Hague peace conference, the suggestion of arbitration, which will necessarily immediately command the sympathy of the public opinion of the world, will be particularly hard to reject. If he agrees, Japan, if she has not already done so, would be all the more bound to submit her claim to the decision of an impartial arbitrator. Acceptance by both sides would involve a great extension of the principle of arbitration, as nations have heretofore declined to arbitrate questions involving their "honor and dignity." Both Mr. Takahira and M. Witte, in the earlier stages of the conference, absolutely rejected the idea of arbitration, and only yesterday, both reiterated their disbelief in such a solution. It was noticed, however, that M. Witte's opinion was not expressed as strongly as it was last week.

Mr. Briantchaninoff, correspondent of the St. Petersburg Slovo, who is in close touch with the members of the Russian mission, made the following significant statement tonight:

"Now that we are on the eve of the decisive day when we are to see whether higher civilization, wedded to peace, is to come out victorious or will admit itself incapable of finding a just solution of the problem at Portsmouth and will refer the whole issue back again to the arbitrament of the sword, I am more than ever content that I do not belong to the government and can say as a simple Russian citizen that Russia wishes peace very sincerely, very frankly, and that she considers that she has demonstrated her desire for peace by her course at this conference. She has yielded upon eight points. She has abandoned her fond dream of an open port in the Pacific.

"She has agreed to retire from the country where she has spent millions in the cause of civilization. All this she has done, but not because she fears a continuation of the war. On the contrary letters I have received from Russia are unanimous in saying that the whole country has renewed confidence in its reorganized army, that the army is thirsting for battle and dreams of revenge, that Gen. Linevitch, the commander-in-chief, is sure of success, and that the authorities all agree in saying that never before has the moral and physical state of the troops been better. We know that Linevitch is not only an organizer like Kuropatkin, but that he possesses that particular military intuition, that talent for spontaneously seizing an opportunity which alone can give victory against an adversary as formidable as the Japanese.

The Armies Are Equal.

"The number of Russian troops at last equals that of Japan and they are no longer Siberian recruits. I know that in the eyes of foreigners all these arguments are not convincing. The events of the past influence their judgment as to the future, but to Russians who are in touch with the military situation, it is certain that a rupture of the negotiations seemed desirable because they believe that the turn of the tide is at hand. Certainly with a battle along a front of 60 miles no one can foresee what may happen—any little accident, the sun or the dust in the eyes of the men, an order badly expressed or badly understood, a telephone wire cut, anything may in an instant entirely change the situation.

"One cannot be astonished, therefore, if the Russians when they are told 'you have lost; pay,' reply 'fifteen times in succession we have backed the red and it has come black. We have now the advantage of the chances. We will continue to back the red until we win.' The player has the right to his revenge. The world cannot be angry with Russia if after having yielded perhaps more than she ought she now says: 'If my adversary does not understand that I have yielded unwillingly only because I have always believed in the peaceful solution of conflicts, I will prove to him that once wounded I can become obstinate and pursue the game until my adversary is completely exhausted.' Personally, as an anti-militarylst and a believer in peace, I find that it would be in entire conformity to the dignity of Russia to submit the questions in dispute to The Hague tribunal and thus increase the splendor of that institution, which should become for the welfare of humanity the organ of the conscience of nations. But I know, alas, that such an idea has not yet taken deep enough root. One can not then feel resentment against the Russian people if, observing that their love for peace has been interpreted as a sign of weakness and too much is demanded of them, they replace their destinies in the hands of their generals."

ANNIHILATED A BAND OF CHINESE BANDITS

Lost Their Existence Through Conflict With Russian Troops in Manchuria.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 21.—An official dispatch from Gen. Linevitch to the emperor, dated August 16, says that a Russian detachment has annihilated a band of Chinese bandits in the Lungchen district. The leader of the band and two Japanese were among the dead.

GODZYANA, MANCHURIA, Aug. 20.—Three Russian officers who have reached the mainland from Sakhalin, report that the Russian force in the interior of the island occupies an almost impregnable position and is receiving the full support of the convicts.

TOKYO, Aug. 20.—The commander of the squadron sent to Kamchatka reports that he seized the Russian transport Australia in Petropavlosk harbor on August 13.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Daily Telegraph's Japanese correspondent at Moji says that Gen. Linevitch's defense works are now complete. His troops number between 400,000 and 500,000. Train-loads of troops are arriving from Russia and many are being sent to the Tumen. Despite the heavy rains the Japanese have advanced in northern Korea. The Russians abandoned their advance works and were driven back. After crossing the River Tumen the Russians destroyed the bridges and there is no sign of Russians south of the Tumen. The Japanese army in Korean already has effected a certain communication with Field Marshal Oyama.

EXPRESSING ADMIRATION FOR PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Paris Newspapers Consider the Peace Situation Extremely Delicate Though Hopeful.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The morning papers devote lengthy leaders to expressing admiration for President Roosevelt in his efforts to bring about peace. The papers adopt a hopeful view, yet they consider the situation extremely delicate and that the turn of the tide will depend upon the influence of the president of the United States. On the other hand the correspondents at the various centers of conflict are pessimistic with regard to peace.

The Echo de Paris' St. Petersburg correspondent presents a long document pertaining to the financial position of Japan which is purported to have been submitted to Emperor Nicholas and his ministers to allow them to judge of Japan's resources in carrying on the war. The correspondent adds that the perusal and study of this financial document shows that Japan with indemnity will become very powerful, while without indemnity she will be ruined. For this reason, he adds, Russia will refuse to pay a kopeck.

The correspondent of the Matin at Portsmouth says that in the course of an interview M. Witte expressed a deep sense of gratitude to President Roosevelt for his efforts in behalf of peace.

LEAVES CREDITORS BEHIND.

Prominent Politician in New Hampshire Disappears Owing About $21,000.

BERLIN, N. H., Aug. 20.—The police were notified tonight of the disappearance of C. Lamoureux, president of the Canadio-American Insurance Company, a French Canadian benefit society and efforts are being made to find him. Claims for about $21,000 have been presented by the creditors of the missing man, and his store and residence have been attached.

The disappearance of Lamoureux has created a sensation. He is a city assessor and prominent in local politics.

Anarchists Parade Streets.

MILAN, Aug. 20.—Socialists and anarchists to the number of several thousand paraded the streets today, creating disorder and rioting. The police were powerless and the troops were called out. Cavalry dispersed the mobs, many persons being wounded and many arrests being made.

ENDEAVOR TO KILL QUEEN MARGHERITA

Mother of King Victor Emmanuel Thrown from Automobile While Touring the Alps.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

TURIN, Aug. 20.—A dastardly attempt has just been made to assassinate Queen Margherita, mother of King Victor Emmanuel, who is making a tour of the Alps in an automobile. This news is contained in a telegram received today from Aosta at the royal palace at Racconigi near here.

Queen Margherita was ascending the Little St. Bernard in her automobile, accompanied by the Marquise Di Villamarina, another lady of the court and two gentlemen, when the machine suddenly struck against a strong barricade that had been erected in the middle of the road, and was overturned.

Fortunately no one was injured, but the five occupants were greatly alarmed. The barricade had been placed at a dangerous turning, where it was impossible to see the road more than a few feet in advance.

Police in an automobile were following the royal party and at once made an investigation, resulting in the discovery that the barricade had without doubt been placed there to bring about a fatal accident to the queen. Two arrests have been made on suspicion.

TO PROPOSE DISSOLUTION OF NORWAY AND SWEDEN

Both Governments Are Anxious to Secure a Solution of Their Difficulties.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHRISTIANIA, Aug. 21.—The storthing will assemble today. The Norwegian government within a day or two will submit a proposal relating to the dissolution of the union of Norway and Sweden. Both governments are anxious to secure a solution of the difficulties at the earliest date possible.

Consequently, it is understood that the storthing will request the riksdag to secure dissolution of the union by a formal resolution and repeal of the treaty, and will immediately authorize the government to negotiate with the riksdag concerning Sweden's conditions.

There is an apparent strong feeling against the acceptance in toto of Sweden's terms, and especially against the destruction of any fortress. Should Sweden not recede, it is considered probable that Norway will propose arbitration of the disputed points.

FOREMAN KILLS TWO NEGROES

Clash in a Kentucky Railroad Camp Between Whites and Blacks Over Professional Gamblers.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—A clash between negroes and whites occurred at Toney's railroad camp near Mt. Pleasant, Ky., Saturday night, resulting in the killing of two negroes. August C. Smith, a foreman of this city, reached here this morning to avoid further trouble and arrest by the Kentucky authorities. The trouble came up over the presence at the camp Saturday night of two professional negro gamblers.

Smith went to arrest the two negroes when one of them fired on him. He quickly pulled his pistol and shot one of the negroes dead, and shot down the other. Others interfered and in the fight which followed a number were hurt. The white foreman finally got most of the negroes under control and subdued them. Smith has not been arrested.

MISSIONARY PHYSICIAN IS DEAD IN PERSIA

Was at One Time the Only Civilized Doctor in Community of 500,000 Persons.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 20.—In Westminster church today it was announced that the church's missionary physician, Joseph Plumb Cochran, M. D., had died of typhoid fever in Uramia, Persia. Dr. Cochran was born in Uramia in 1865 of American missionary parents.

Dr. Cochran built the first hospital in Persia and was at one time the only civilized physician in a community of 500,000 people. In 1880, when Uramia was threatened by Kurdish invasion, he arranged an armistice with the chiefs and Uramia was saved. In recognition of that service the shah of Persia conferred on him the decoration of the order of the Lion and the Sun, bestowed but twice on any one other than a Mohammedan.

About a year ago a fanatic threatened Dr. Cochran's life and murdered his colleague, the Rev. Benjamin Labaree. President Roosevelt last October sent a special envoy to demand punishment of the murderer and the Persian government paid $30,000 indemnity.

Dr. Cochran is survived by a widow and five children. The widow and two children are in Uramia and three other children live in Minneapolis.

BELIEVES HE KILLED A MAN.

Aged Man Surrenders to Massachusetts Police and Tells of Occurrence Eight Years Ago.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Wojciek Bielowski, 64 years old, surrendered himself to the Springfield police this afternoon and told a strange story of an occurrence in Shenandoah, Pa., eight years ago by which he fears a police officer who was about to arrest him for a minor offense was killed by a bullet from his gun. He said that the gun lay on the table in his room and was discharged as the officer opened the door.

Bielowski thought he heard groans and fled. For eight years he has wandered around the country until remorse for the supposed accident led him to surrender himself to the local police today. Word has been received from the Shenandoah police to hold Bielowski until an investigation can be made to determine whether he is wanted there.

OPINIONS ON DECREE VARY.

Socialist Newspapers of Russia Regard Organic Change in System as Imperial Joke of Emperor.

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—(Special Cable.)—The Russian emperor's decree convoking a national assembly was published in Germany yesterday evening and is analyzed by the newspapers of today.

Opinion is as varied regarding the organic change in the Russian system as there are political groups.

The Socialist newspapers mock at the decree and call it an imperial joke of Emperor Nicholas, designed to show those in his empire struggling for constitutional liberty how little he cares for their aspirations. The North German Gazette considers that Emperor Nicholas, by a stroke, has placed Russia among the constitutional governments of the world.

HAVE A TANGIBLE CLEW.

It Is Now Thought a Woman Is Responsible for the Death of a 17-Year-Old Girl.

KENTS HILL, ME., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—The authorities of Kennebec county today were engaged in investigating what appears to them like a tangible clew to the murderer of Mattie Hackett, the 17-year-old daughter of Levi Hackett, who was strangled near her home here Thursday night. It is thought an arrest may be made tomorrow.

The latest theory entertained by the officers is that a woman was responsible for the girl's death. High Sheriff Frank H. Ham said tonight that in his opinion a woman committed the crime. Until some definite action has been taken the sheriff will not explain his theory. The funeral of Miss Hackett was held today.

Falls on Railroad Tracks.

James Carroll, who lives in Randolph street, in lower Allegheny, was found lying on the Ft. Wayne tracks at an early hour yesterday morning. He had evidently fallen from the Chartiers street bridge and was badly injured. He was taken to St. John's General hospital in No. 4 patrol wagon, where it was found that his skull was fractured.

FOUR KILLED BY YELLOW FEVER

Besides the Deaths Forty-Five New Cases Have Developed in New Orleans.

ARE CHECKING THE DISEASE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—Following is the official yellow fever report to 6 p. m. today:

New cases, 45.
Total cases to date, 1,053.
Deaths, 4.
Total deaths, 196.
New foci, 11.
Total foci, 206.
Remaining under treatment, 381.

No better evidence of the fact that the visitation of mosquito fever is not only being controlled here, but that there is a chance for its eradication, can be found than in the daily reports of cases and deaths. For several days the number of new cases has shown a decline, while the number of deaths have been remarkably lower, considering the number of cases reported a week ago. The death list indicates that practically every case that develops is now being reported and that means that the modern method of treatment to prevent spread is being applied. When that condition is assured, the end of visitation is in sight and it looks as if that condition is approaching.

With the visitation of 1878 compared to the present one, it is shown that there is no reason for alarm in the present instance. They prove the fact that the disease is being controlled. They also indicate that if it had not been checked and controlled at the time that it was, that the visitation this year would have been as serious as that of 1878. While the Marine hospital surgeons are indulging in no comments, they are much more hopeful than they were two weeks ago when they took hold of the situation.

Of the four deaths, one was in the Charity hospital, one in the Emergency hospital, and the other two down down town. News from outside the city contains nothing of special interest. The infection on Riverside plantation, in St. Mary's parish, has spread among the Italians there until there have been 61 cases all told to date. There have been 13 new cases since the last report four days ago. A strict quarantine has been put on the Bayou La Fourche settlement, and several refugees coming up the bayou in luggers have been turned back. Three of the six fever cases there died Friday.

Dr. Gustine, the health officer at Kenner, reports five new cases at Manson City, in Jefferson parish, making 14 all told in that settlement. One new case developed at Sarpy plantation. Patterson reports 10 cases and one death. The death is of a nurse who was sent there by the state board of health on the first appeal for help.

Surgeon Wasdin reports four new cases at Mississippi City, with only nine cases under treatment. Surgeon Gutieras, who went to Rayne to investigate the second case, reported from there today that it was not yellow fever. Surgeon Wilts went to Mobile today to have a conference with the Alabama state health authorities.

vast assemblage sank from sight, and piercing screams rent the air. The figure was that of Rabbi Saul S. Graffman holding Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky in his arms.

Many Rescuers at Hand.

When the crash came both rabbis anticipated what had happened. Rabbi Graffman stepped upon the foundation to save himself and seeing his brother rabbi about to sink into the pit, grabbed him about the waist and, being a powerful man, succeeded in holding him. Rabbi Graffman's foot was grazed by a plank but it was only slightly bruised.

Hundreds of rescuers, headed by Policemen John McDonough and William White, assisted the fallen to the street. Scores were slightly bruised and cut, but aside from a few women who had fainted, all were able to help themselves when again upon the pavement. The exception was Policeman Adam Leiseweske, who had his right ankle cut and sprained, and who was bruised about the side. He was assisted to the office of Dr. S. Seegman in Center avenue, where he was given medical attention and sent home.

Continue With the Services.

A report was at once spread that Rabbi Ashinsky had been seriously injured and had been carried out unconscious, but it was without foundation. Rabbi Graffman having saved him from all harm. This was further refuted by the fact that after the excitement had abated he continued with the service and delivered the principal address from an improvised platform. Nathan Nathanson, president of the congregation, and his wife, were among those slightly bruised.

After quiet had been restored the services were continued, a large box upon which a chair had been placed, serving as a speaker's platform. Addresses on the history and growth of the congregation were made by Rabbis Ashinsky, Graffman and Bloom and Harry Gershman. The privilege of laying the corner stone was then auctioned off and was bid in jointly by N. Sakolosky and B. Morris for $80. Stones in the other three corners of the structure were sold at prices ranging from $25 to $50. Nearly $1,000 was raised by collection.

In the box placed in the stone were deposited papers containing an account of the Kishineff and Gomal massacres, a parchment containing the names of the church officers, and other papers and records. The new synagogue will be built of brick with stone trimmings, and will cost $10,500.

GIRL CAUSE OF DOWNFALL.

Three-Year-Old Boy Falls Five Stories While Watching a Girl Play in Next Yard—Is Unhurt.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Three-year-old Frank Wagner of No. 1823 First avenue this afternoon was standing on the fire escape on the fifth floor watching little Grace Kraus playing with her dolls in the yard next door. Grace smiled at him and he climbed to the top of the railing, slipped and fell. A second later he landed waist deep in a mud pile within a few feet of the little girl and her dollies.

Mrs. Wagner, who saw her son disappear over the railing, shrieked with terror and ran to the yard, expecting to find the mangled form of her boy. Instead she saw the youngster calmly removing the mud from his Sunday clothes. An ambulance was summoned, but the surgeon could not find a mark on the boy's body.

Spanish Mercantile Association Says Protection Is Causing Nation's Troubles.

MADRID, Aug. 20.—The managing committee of the Mercantile club has memorialized the minister of finance, requesting the government to return to free trade, and condemning protection, which it states is the origin of labor troubles and was the cause of the loss of Cuba and the Philippines. The document is receiving much attention by the newspapers and the public.

NEW ASSEMBLY TO BE POPULAR

VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 21.—The Novoe Vremya and the Russky Slovo today unreservedly praise the Douma project. The other St. Petersburg newspapers, however, fail to show much enthusiasm. While half-heartedly admitting that the project makes for improvement, these latter papers freely criticise the limitation of the powers of the Douma and ask for an extension of the freedom of the press, freedom of meeting and political amnesty.

The Novoe Vremya declares that the wall which for centuries had separated the nation from the sovereign has fallen and that the new reform opens the way for the development of national individuality and genius which is necessary for the evolution of a great people.

The Russky Slovo says that the new Douma will bring Russia into line with the western nations. "If the war continues," it says, "the army will be vivified by the consciousness of the impossibility of the continuation of administrative vices, which have produced the army's defects."

Prince Obolensky, editor of the Viedomosti, says: "The project dissipates the illusion that the government would meet the hopes of the Liberal majority. The Douma question has been settled by admitting only loyal subjects, cultivating ideals of autocratic authority."

The Russ concludes a lengthy article as follows: "All adversaries of the bureaucratic regime are now relegated to the archives."

The Syn Otetchestva, while criticising certain points in the project, says: "August 19 will be recorded in history as a day of victory for the Russian people over the dark powers which, although stubbornly resisting, are yielding step by step."

The principal objection raised to the project is the high qualification necessary for city voters, ranging from 365 annually in St. Petersburg and Moscow to 100 in the smaller towns. This, it is argued, will exclude the vast majority of educated persons from suffrage. Peasant representation, however, is fully insured everywhere.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT HAS ENDED HIS TASK

It Is Not Expected That He Will Again Be Visited by Peace Envoys.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 20.—No news of developments in the negotiations for peace in the far east reached President Roosevelt today. The president remained quietly at Sagamore Hill during the greater part of the day, and the executive offices in the village were closed except for an hour or two.

The president's great effort to bring about a successful issue of the peace conference at Portsmouth practically was concluded with his conference yesterday afternoon with Baron de Rosen. The proposition then submitted will have to be passed upon not only by the Russian envoys, but by Emperor Nicholas himself. On the determination reached as to that proposition very likely will depend peace or an indefinite continuation of hostilities.

It is not expected here that the president will receive further visits from either Russian or Japanese representatives prior to the meeting of the conferees next Tuesday morning. There is ground for the belief that the Japanese plenipotentiaries were cognizant of the details of the president's final effort to prevent a rupture of the conference, and are prepared so far as their government is concerned, to carry into effect the proposition, be submitted to the Russian envoys.

President Roosevelt, after attending the morning service at Christ church with Mrs. Roosevelt and the children, remained at home with his personal guest, Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York, until late in the afternoon, when he and Dr. Lambert went for a long walk.

Scores of people visited the Sagamore Hill grounds today, on foot and in all sorts of vehicles. Pedestrians are not permitted to wander about the grounds, but vehicles, if kept moving, may follow the driveway around Sagamore Hill house.

The submarine torpedo boat Plunger was to have arrived off Oyster Bay from the Brooklyn navy yard this evening, but some proposed changes in her machinery made it necessary for her to remain at the yard until tomorrow afternoon. Her tests in the presence of the president will take place next Wednesday or Thursday.

ZAMBOANGA, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—The Taft party has arrived. There were wonderful demonstrations, with 20,000 Moros from the islands in a parade led by the Twentieth infantry, Col. Man's dismers, a native dance on the lawn, a ball at the Army and Navy club, at which Miss Alice Roosevelt and Miss Alice Longthorne were the belles. The Logan sails at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning. All are well.

WILL PROTEST MOORE'S ACTION

Labor Organizations Want to Know Why He So Zealously Guarded Glass Plant.

FLINT WORKERS INVESTIGATE

The labor organizations of Pittsburgh will be called together for the purpose of making formal protest against the city sending policemen to guard the Macbeth-Evans factory on the South Side. This measure of vindication was decided upon by the American Flint Glass Workers' union yesterday after a thorough investigation of the strike situation was made by President Thomas Rowe and Secretary John L. Dobbins. A canvass was made of the entire neighborhood of the Macbeth-Evans plant and the unanimous verdict of the people was that there was no semblance of disorder to necessitate Director Harry Moore in assigning officers to that duty and to incurring extra expense upon the city.

President Rowe and Secretary Dobbins spent several days in the city and proceeded quietly about their work. The local members of the national executive committee gave him their assistance, and when the work was concluded on Saturday night the national officers returned to Toledo. It is probable the meeting of the labor organizations will be held within the next fortnight.

"We have seen every person who resides in the vicinity of the Macbeth-Evans plant," said a member of the committee yesterday, "and the statement of every one corroborates our assertion that at no time was there any need of officers there. When Director Harry Moore detailed two extra policemen on this duty and added heavy expense to the city he not only spent the public money where it was unnecessary, but he evidently tried to place the glassworkers in bad repute before the public. It was an insult to the good name of every working man in Pittsburgh as well as an attempt to get into their pockets.

"Our canvass shows there are only three flint workers on the South Side. The majority have gone to their fishing camps, where they are accustomed to spend the summer. A great many have obtained employment in a big factory in Montreal. Surely the three left behind were not bent on creating trouble at the South Side plant, and if they had been very dangerous men it seems odd to have called out a special detail of police to be kept on duty throughout the 24 hours to watch for them.

"It happens that the flints are nearly all property holders in the city. Consequently they are taxpayers and they will be obliged to pay their share of the money for these policemen which Director Moore detailed to perform private duty, which, it is believed, should have been defrayed by the glass company. It is likely that President Rowe will be here again within 10 days."

President Rowe and his party stopped at the St. Charles hotel. They worked during the day in making their canvass of the South Side, and when they had reached the conclusions regarding the poor judgment exercised by the public safety chief in calling out the special officers, they held a brief conference with several other labor leaders and agreed to call an indignation meeting.

ON VERGE OF STRIKE.

No Change in the Muddled Situation Between Window Glass Workers and Manufacturers.

Local window glass workers in the Pittsburgh joint preceptory who refuse to go to work next month under the new scale formulated by Simon Burns and presented to the manufacturers after the wage meeting at Columbus, O., are in the dark as to what will be done. Beyond the adoption of a resolution on Friday evening not to work under the agreement, no formal action has been taken. The majority of the workers seem none too friendly toward Burns. In Cleveland a more optimistic view is taken of the matter. A special dispatch from that city says:

"Judging by the present situation in the window glass industry there will be no strike of the workers in September to enforce the wage scale, which has been presented to window glass manufacturers throughout the United States. President A. L. Faulkner of the Amalgamated Window Glass Workers of America, stated tonight that he has received word from officers of the unions affiliated with his organization throughout the country that they were all standing solidly behind the wage scale presented to the manufacturers.

"Very favorable reports are coming into the office from all parts of the country indicating that our wage scales will be signed by manufacturers," said President Faulkner.

"Our men employed in the South McKee plant and the plant of D. O. Cunningham of Pittsburgh, have also voted to stand by our scale."

DECLINES A VACATION.

Lake Erie Conductor Prefers to Extend His Record of Unbroken Service of 17 Years.

John McDermott, conductor of the Buffalo Flyer, on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, who has the distinction of never missing a day during the 17 years he has been with the road, refuses again this year to take a vacation and will keep his record intact. The inducement of a two-weeks' lay-off with pay does not weigh with McDermott against the misfortune of losing the record which it has taken 17 years to accumulate.

McDermott, whose home is in McKees Rocks, runs between Youngstown and Pittsburgh, and his train is among the fastest in the country. During all the years of his service for the road he has never been further from his home than the end of his run—68 miles. He believes this is a distinction possessed by no other railroad man.

He is 44 years old and is president of the McKees Rocks council. When he was elected first, four years ago, he narrowly missed defeat through his refusal to leave his work in order to look after his interests at the polls. He is an Elk and was urged to serve as a delegate to the convention at Buffalo, but would not go because he would have had to leave his work.

TWO INDUSTRY MEN ARE RUN DOWN BY A FREIGHT

Their Injuries Are of Such a Nature That It Is Believed Both Will Die.

Michael Sanders, aged 33, proprietor of a pool room at Industry, and Thomas Miller, aged 38, whose home is also at Industry, were struck by a B. & O. freight train near McKeesport early yesterday morning. Sanders sustained several fractured ribs, had his head and face lacerated and is thought to have been internally injured. Miller's skull and right arm are fractured. It is probable that both will die. Both are in the McKeesport hospital.

At the time of the accident the men were on their way home from Jacob's Creek. They stated that they did not hear the approach of the train. The engineer saw them on the track when it was too late to slow up. They were taken to the hospital on the train which hit them.

HOLD ALL-DAY SERVICES.

Members of First Congregational Church, McKeesport, Occupy Their New Place of Worship.

Services were held yesterday for the first time in the new First Congregational church at South Evans avenue and Irwin street, McKeesport, in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Howard Eckel. A handsome new pipe organ, recently installed, was dedicated in connection with the services.

At 6 a. m. there was a sunrise prayer meeting, followed by a testimony meeting from 7 to 8, and then a love feast and several short addresses, from 8 to 9. At 9:30 there was class meeting, which was followed by the regular preaching service at 10:30. In the afternoon there was a song and praise service, and at 6:30 the senior Christian Endeavor meeting was held. A street meeting, conducted from 7 to 7:30, was followed by the regular evening services conducted by the pastor.

The services in the church yesterday were of an informal nature, and the dedication will not take place until next month, when it is expected to have present the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, moderator of the national council of the Congregational church, and one of the foremost ministers of the denomination.

WOMAN FOILS BURGLARS.

Detects Them Forcing Entrance Into Second Avenue Building and Hurries for the Police.

Burglars attempted to rob the offices of the Fairbanks company, 318 Second avenue, about 10 o'clock Saturday night, and were frustrated by Mrs. Dehney, housekeeper of the St. Charles hotel. While two of the burglars were trying to jimmy the front door, the third burglar noticed Mrs. Dehney. He warned his companions and they fled.

Mrs. Dehney was sitting on the fire escape on the Second avenue side of the hotel, when she saw a man standing in front of the Fairbanks store and heard a noise like somebody filing steel. Then she saw several flashes of a small electric lamp. She tried to slip back into the hotel without attracting the attention of the burglars, but the "lookout" saw her go into the building. Mrs. Dehney notified the clerk of the hotel, who summoned Policeman McCarroll. The officer hurried to the place, but the burglars had gone. The burglars had partly pried the door open and had filed part of the lock away. They also tore a long strip off the bottom of the door in trying to get in.

LOOKS BAD FOR ROGER.

Munhall Woman Accuses Him of Stealing Money and Jewelry.

William Roger, a riverman, was arrested at Second avenue and Grant street yesterday on a charge of robbery preferred by Mrs. Lena M. Bowie of Whitaker. The information was made before Justice of the Peace George W. Giles of Munhall. Mrs. Bowie alleges that on last Friday night Roger broke into her house and demanded her money. She told him that she had no money, when she says Roger grabbed her by the throat and pushing her against a wall tore her watch, chain and a ring off her.

She says that Roger then tore open the front of her dress and took her pocketbook containing 17 cents. He then threw her in a corner of the room. When he left the house he locked her in and she was not discovered by her neighbors until some time later. A description of Roger was furnished the next day to the Pittsburgh police. Roger was taken back to Munhall yesterday afternoon.

EDGEWOOD'S ECLIPSE.

Wilkinsburg Hoodlums Break the Borough Street Lamps Because Their Sleep Was Disturbed.

A portion of the borough of Edgewood was left in total darkness on Saturday night because a party of Wilkinsburg roughs who had gone to Braddock to lay in their Sunday store of strong liquor, took umbrage at the Edgewood police. The drunken men broke a score of the street lamps and four policemen joined in the chase to catch the miscreants. Edward Lantrey was caught and at a hearing yesterday morning was fined $10. Suits will be entered against the other members of the party today.

The men stopped at Edgewood on their way from Braddock at midnight and spread themselves on the ground in a grove to sleep. A street lamp disturbed their slumber and they broke it. An officer drove them from the grove, and to retaliate they threw stones at half the lamps in town.

CAMP MEETING CLOSES.

Crissman of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church was in charge. In the afternoon the Rev. Earl D. Holtz of Allegheny, and in the evening the Rev. N. B. Tannehill. The following directors have been chosen for the coming year:

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. Joseph Horner; secretary and treasurer, Charles Horner; executive committee, John Johnston, James Pitcairn and W. E. Wilson.

Finds Man in Chicken Coop.

Alex Bechanis of Moon Run was committed to jail yesterday by Justice Burket of Robinson township. Sylvester Couchman alleges he was awakened from his sleep on Friday morning by the cackling of his chickens. He got up and going to his chicken coop found Bechanis in the coop.

Making Ready for the Fall Term of School.

Many of the schools of our country begin their Fall term early in September. The public schools of Pittsburg open on the first Monday in September, and what a rush time is the last week or so in August with parents, preparing the wearables of their progeny for the opening term! Things to be bought and things to be made up!

And it is quite a busy period also with the young girls and young fellows who go away to school, for they take it upon themselves to look out for the entire term, 'though of course our Mail-Order Department is a very good means for keeping in touch with affairs here.

We have looked ahead and do our part towards these preparations with as much pleasure and interest as any.

New Ready-to-Wear Things for Girls and Misses.

One of the best ways we can suggest to get the girls of the family ready for school is to come into our Misses' Department and fit them out. Then the parent is practically relieved of all trouble, except selection, as we have looked after the proper styles, the matter of workmanship, and are ready to name the very lowest prices consistent with high-grade garments.

Our boys' clothing has a reputation for wear with prices as low as the lowest.

Rogers—one very pretty modern fancy pattern and two perfectly plain patterns. We will sell out the lot at a price that is less than cost. The reason why:

Some time ago legal proceedings were instituted by an Eastern concern against the maker of these goods on account of the trade-mark he was using—claiming some infringement—the court sustained the claim—the maker had several thousand dollars' worth of goods made up and in the stock rooms, and to dispose of them was compelled under the ruling of the court to stamp out the trademark.

Therefore, in this way, and carrying Joseph Horne Co.'s unqualified guarantee, we offer the goods as follows—

Monday, August 21, 1905.

It is almost miraculous that but one person was injured by the collapse of the platform at the Miller street corner stone laying yesterday. But the incident serves as well as a fatal accident to illustrate the necessity for greater care in these matters. Platforms on which crowds are expected to congregate should be constructed with a large factor of safety in every instance.

The fatal automobile accident at Newport has shocked the country. It is an unpleasant addition to a long list of similar mishaps. It will not cause any revulsion of feeling against the motor car, either as a useful vehicle or as a toy, but it ought to prompt a spirit of caution. Motorists should be more careful than many of them are in the interest of safety for themselves and the public. Reckless driving of horses is prohibited and reckless driving of automobiles is more hazardous.

Mayor Hays has asked for a postponement of the fender tests proffered by the Pittsburgh Railways Company pending the return of Director Moore. There was no necessity for such postponement. The director could easily approve a fender on the mayor's recommendation. We fear the difference between the mayor and the director on the fender question is simply that one says the cars ought to be equipped without delay and the other is frankly brutal enough to declare that no fender is any good.

There is evidence in the proceedings taken in the United States district court at Kansas City that no reasonable measures are to be neglected to compel the railroads to observe the law. The suits entered on Saturday include the famous case against the Santa Fe system, over which there has been so much controversy, and in which Messrs. Harmon and Judson recommended a dragnet prosecution directed against the principal officials. There is reason to believe the procedure adopted by the department of justice is better.

A news letter from London brings the disturbing information that gambling is prevalent among all classes in England. From social favorites down to costermongers, it is said, the buying of pools, laying of wagers and playing of games of chance or skill is the common amusement. Such a condition is terribly demoralizing to any people. The gambling spirit, once aroused, blunts the moral sensibilities and leads to many more serious crimes. It is surprising this vice should get so firm a hold on the conservative people of old England.

In declaring off the strike of telegraph operators on the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, President Perham says individual advances in wages have been granted. This is probable and it is just. Much responsibility rests on the men who direct the movement of trains by orders sent over the telegraph wires, and $40 a month is not a munificent remuneration for carrying the burden. At the same time there is no law compelling a man to be a telegraph operator, and railroads cannot afford to pay out of proportion to earnings for any particular service.

There continue to be conflicting rumors concerning the purpose of the president to call an extra session of congress. It is possible he has not yet decided this question himself. If congressional leaders oppose an extra session and show a willingness to utilize the time of the regular session in useful ways, there may be no necessity for convening the congress in advance of its ordinary date of meeting. The extra session idea came of the plea of senators that insufficient time was given to consider weighty questions. If the senate had business rules extra sessions could be dispensed with easily.

Such hope as remains of a peace agreement at Portsmouth hinges on the intervention of President Roosevelt and the possibility of concessions from Tokyo and St. Petersburg. It would not be profitable to go far into the field of conjecture on these points. It can be assumed the emperors of Russia and Japan are not wholly unmindful of the horrors of war, nor of the almost unanimous desire of other nations to have the war ended. At the same time it can be appreciated that they do not take the identical views of potentates not directly interested. What they ought to do is to drop false pride and personal considerations and go as far as possible to secure a permanent peace. The honor of neither will suffer by that course.

World Beating Traffic.

During the first half of this month the railroad traffic of the Pittsburgh district has exceeded all previous records. This has been true of freight and passenger business. The increased tonnage has appeared somewhat earlier than usual and presages a later season of enormous proportions. There is no congestion—no sign of it yet—and shippers devoutly hope there will be none to hamper trade this year. It is too early, however, to make predictions. The crop movement, with its demand for cars, and the heaviest coal and ore interchange between this region and the lakes are yet to come.

It is apparent, now, the railroads entering this district are vastly better prepared to handle the big tonnage than before the depression of 1903. The Wabash has added a new road and all of the other lines have increased their Pittsburgh facilities greatly. The Pennsylvania system has added more than 50 per cent to its terminals, where the enlargement will do the most good; the Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie are not much behind. Thus the tonnage of Pittsburgh, long the largest in the world, is given opportunity to advance to unheard of proportions. It is obvious, however, the industrial development is keeping full pace with the railroad construction, so that present accommodations will be soon outgrown.

More marvelous than any feats in construction of new railroad lines has been the transformation of motive power and rolling stock. The large locomotives of 15 years ago are pygmies when compared with the steam giants that now haul Pittsburgh trains; the speed of train movement of that time was very slow compared with that of the present; 20-ton cars have given way to 50-ton steel carriers and 100-pound rails are hardly equal to bearing the huge vehicles that thunder in and out of this home of industry. The progress of 15 years, as exemplified on Pittsburgh railroads, is hardly conceivable by anyone who has not witnessed it and is probably not fully realized by the men who have taken part in bringing it about. Yet in the face of all that has been achieved there is a constant fear that the limit may be reached and Pittsburgh be left without adequate facilities to care for its traffic. Remembrance of the period of congestion is still acute and shippers are afraid of the recurrence of similar conditions. Pittsburgh is all right now and will be better in the years to come if only transportation can be provided to meet its necessities.

A Ship Exposition.

The scheme of the Export Shipping Company of New York, for the exploitation of the products of American manufacturers abroad while not original has the merit of practicability. It is proposed to equip a large steamer and furnish space thereon to the manufacturers of this country to make a display of their goods and send them around the world on a 60,000 mile trip. Consuming about 15 months. Whatever the outlay may be it would seem the cost might be recouped by orders taken en route. It may appeal to Pittsburgh manufacturers who are ambitious to extend their foreign trade. The scheme is definitely set forth by a pamphlet issued by the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor. Among other things it says:

The plan is to allow each person who subscribes for 40 square feet of space or more to display his goods and to send on the steamer a representative whose duty it will be to see that the exhibit is properly arranged at each port, to meet the merchants and dealers invited to inspect the exhibits, explain the utility and advantages of the goods, quote prices delivered in the country of consumption, terms under which goods are sold, appoint agents, extend the sale of the goods, ascertain what the markets of the country demand, the competition to be met, etc. This representative shall also satisfy himself by a personal investigation that any agent so appointed to represent his principal shall be of good character and financially able to meet his obligations. If the standing of agents is carefully gone into there should be no objection to extending ordinary business credit, and no more risk in doing so than is experienced in granting time payments to domestic customers.

The prospective benefits of such a scheme should be attractive enough to insure its success. The total cost for traveling expenses and the showing of samples of each exhibitor is estimated at $5 a day, which is much less than some concerns expend in extending their trade at home. The advantage of this ship exposition will be that foreign buyers will have a look at the articles they contemplate purchasing, which no one will deny is much more satisfactory than descriptive catalogues and price lists.

Registry Lists and Votes.

The Gazette is disposed to agree with the Philadelphia Inquirer in this assertion: "There is no doubt that there has been fraud at the polls in Philadelphia in the past, but that it has amounted to anything like the general impression of it as created by some of the newspapers is not possible." There has been a too obvious effort by the sensational press to magnify the evils that have grown up in the Quaker city. It is desirable that fraud should be punished in Philadelphia and elsewhere. There can be no toleration for illegal voting or corruption of the ballot, but it may well be doubted whether putting the worst face on matters of this sort and unlimited magnifying of evils does any good. It is more likely to do harm by dulling the public sense of aversion to crime of this class.

It is the opinion of the Inquirer that of the 60,000 names on the Philadelphia lists, for which the police have found no owners at the addresses given, one-half have removed to other districts, are temporarily absent, or have died since registration. This view is not unreasonable. In any case there are no such wholesale frauds as our Democratic contemporaries assert. The Inquirer, by way of illustration, cites the assessment of September, 1904, which footed up 391,125 names. The total vote on president, of all parties, in November was 281,614. Thus there were on the assessors' books 109,511 names that were not voted, legally or illegally, about 49,000 more than the Philadelphia police have found improperly there. The December assessment of last year returned 385,025 names, and at the February election this year the total vote amounted to 202,650, or 185,375 less than might have been polled on the registry.

This is not proof that gross frauds have not been committed. Neither is it proof that they have been committed. The point is that if repeaters are as common in Philadelphia as alleged, golden opportunities for greater frauds have been overlooked. Every good citizen will applaud the detection and conviction of ballot box stuffers, but to get them it is not necessary to exaggerate.

Child Labor.

Factory Inspector Delaney's annual report deplores the increase in child labor, despite legislation to restrict it. It charges this increase to the cupidity of parents who send their sons and daughters into mill and factory solely to add to the family income. A part, at least, of the large number of young persons thus employed, Capt. Delaney believes, are working in violation of law on false statements concerning their age.

This does not present a pleasant picture. The inference is that parents do this who would be able to support their children and give them such education as the schools afford without such assistance. There are, however, many instances where the earnings of the children are needed for the proper support of the family. This is one of the penalties of the urban trend of population, the increase of industrialism as compared with agriculture. In agricultural communities the children assist in the work on the farms, which does not interfere with their attendance at school; in the towns there is factory work only, and choice must be made between school and gainful occupation.

Unquestionably the large increase in the foreign population of this state has much to do, also, with the increase in child labor. European standards in this respect are lower than our own, save, possibly, in Germany, where compulsory education has been carried further than in this state. In most European countries, and particularly in those which are now sending the largest numbers of emigrants to America, child labor is almost universal. Every child is put to work who can work and for whom employment can be found. Those peoples are slow to understand the purpose of our restrictive legislation and slow to obey it. This problem is a hard one to solve, but considerable progress has been made.

Gov. Hoch's adjutant general saw some girls in bathing togs at the Atlantic City depot and fled for his Kansas home without going to beach or boardwalk. Probably feared he had been drinking too much water from John Brown's spring.

That Texas man who wants to reduce the Pennsylvania representation in congress probably belongs to the crowd that is restricting cotton production.

Kermit Roosevelt is a son of his father, all right. Being permitted to ride on the locomotive with the engineer he expressed himself as "delighted."

More people have gone to the seashore this year than ever before. The cool weather makes the shore more attractive, maybe.

Mayor Hays has put off the fender test to consult Director Moore. One excuse for postponement is as bad as another.

Mr. Bryan declines to state whether he will be a candidate in 1908, so the Democracy had better ask Judge Parker.

Automobile accidents are more common than railway fatalities, but the auto continues in the aristocratic class.

Lawson of Boston must have that tired feeling when he notes new high records on the tape from his ticker.

When the czar recoils from mention of indemnity he should stop a moment and consider what war is.

Mayor Dunne has been delayed, but promises to get street cars before Mayor Hays gets fenders.

Russia had better do the best it can to get peace now. If it doesn't there is trouble ahead.

President Roosevelt will do anything short of using the big stick to secure peace.

Northern Pacific telegraphers have sent "OW" to the management and returned to work.

When it comes to freight tonnage Pittsburgh is so far ahead there is no race.

Gambling is rife in England. There is none here, according to the police.

When Philadelphia isn't asleep it has a tendency to hysterics.

Nothing Left to Be Desired.

"Equal suffrage will never accomplish what its advocates desire," says the Sunflower philosopher, "until it gives a woman the right to ask a man to marry her." Oh, they have that right now. The brutality of man has not yet carried them so far as to expose the truth, or there would be a great deal of evidence that the ladies do frequently propose. Indeed, there is nothing desirable that the women can gain by suffrage that they have not already.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A PREACHMENT BY THE QUIET OBSERVER

Soldiers' Reunions, and Campfires—Their Significance in Times of Peace.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"Come down and help us hold what will, in all probability, be the last reunion held in this portion of the Ohio valley," writes a veteran from Middleport.

He says the veterans are becoming few and far between, and growing older year by year, and the younger generation does not take enough interest in the affairs to make them successful.

You would hardly have thought this true, but it probably is. The veterans themselves are willing to do what they can, but being past three score, they are not able to do the hustling necessary to make reunions hum like they used to.

But wouldn't you have thought that the younger set would only have been too glad not only to chip in and help the boys of the 60's in their reunions, but to turn in and show them a good time on account of what they have done?

Last year there was a reunion down at Gallipolis lasting three days. It was a success, but the veterans allowed they wouldn't attempt it again on account of the expense, hard work and lack of co-operation on the part of their neighbors.

Judge Lochary, the brother of Capt. Lochary, of the Ninety-eighth Ohio, who was killed at Chickamauga, was one of the principal promoters of the reunion, and he found plenty of people who were perfectly willing to allow him to do all the work.

There is a lot of hard work to be done, but many willing hands make a heavy job light. It is the lack of willing hands that make these reunions burdensome on the soldiers, whose ranks are becoming thinner and thinner year by year.

Don't you think that those who bore the burden in the heat of the day should now, in the evening of their lives, be guests instead of hosts?

The regimental reunion appears to be more successful than district affairs, in which all the soldiers in two or three counties are included.

In many sections of the country these reunions are neighborly affairs, lasting but a day and a night. Now that the ranks are so thin, two or more regiments hold their reunions at the same time and place.

Last week there was a reunion at New Philadelphia, O., which was a great success, the survivors of the Ninety-eighth, Fifty-second, Fifty-first and Eightieth regiments meeting together. Each held its individual reunion during the forenoon of Thursday, joining in a parade in the afternoon and a campfire at night.

These regiments having been recruited in Tuscarawas and adjoining counties, and were closely associated during the war, it was quite a neighborly affair all around.

It must be said that the younger set in New Philadelphia did splendidly and succeeded in giving the "boys" a reception long to be remembered. The Ladies' Relief corps and the Sons of Veterans did most of the work, and they did it right well.

The Relief corps served dinner for something over 500 and supper for nearly the same number, and these were nearly all veterans. Altogether there were about 800 soldiers registered at the different headquarters.

Each of the regiments extended invitations to any and all soldiers and sailors to become their guests, so that it was in no sense an exclusive affair. And yet each regiment retained its individuality, which is a point worth bearing in mind when getting up a soldiers' reunion. The boys were together so long that they don't relish being separated now, even if included in a general reunion.

The Jefferson County Soldiers and Sailors' association holds its fourth annual meeting at Stanton park, Steubenville, on next Thursday. This promises to be a big affair, the same as in the past. It includes not only Ohio soldiers, but West Virginia and Pennsylvania as well.

In this, as in other associations of the kind, the individuality of the regiments is lost, which is a loss that can hardly be compensated. And yet these meetings at Steubenville have been highly successful. Thousands of people attend and enjoy the various park amusements, as well as the characteristic reunion exercises.

So far the politician has failed to break into the soldiers' reunions and rarely is a bidder for votes or political favors found on the platform. He seems to realize that he has no business there.

While the younger set can finance and promote a good reunion as far as general entertainment is concerned, it cannot conduct a successful campfire. Only soldiers who have been used to real campfires know how.

A campfire conducted according to a fixed program, with set pieces, becomes entirely too formal and so lacking in the spirit of the real thing that real soldiers grow weary, more or less.

At a real campfire every comrade must hold himself in readiness to sing a song, tell a story or run, and a real soldier is not much given to running.

When it comes to the campfire the whole thing should be turned over to the veterans. These may be depended upon to select a commander who can call out the talent, and there is always plenty of it, a little smoky, maybe, but a whole lot better, or at least better suited to the occasion than set speeches and premeditated efforts.

It will have to be a mighty dry place, awfully dry, if your veteran doesn't find something that is entertaining, for there is always some fellow to furnish either amusement or entertainment.

He was at New Philadelphia the other night, and he was found outside of the opera house after the campfire had waxed and waned. They called him "Doc," and he had much to say, particularly about people he didn't like, and he didn't seem to have much liking for any of those who had reached distinction in war or at the bar.

It was evident that he had been practicing at a bar, or possibly at several, during the day, but he was funny all the same, not drunk, but just funny. And the fact that he was in earnest and meant what he said, added a spice of real humor to his funniness. But what he said would not be funny in print, or gotten off by another. He had to be seen and heard to be appreciated.

One thing that impresses those who attend these regimental reunions is the healthfulness and hardiness of the average veteran. Very few of them are broken down or dilapidated. On the contrary, they are about as hearty and wholesome a lot of fellows as you will meet anywhere. As a body, or a class, they are hardier than in former years, which is probably due to the fact that the weaklings have nearly all died, or are unable to answer roll call on these occasions.

"It is a case of the survival of the toughest," is the explanation given at campfires, and a better one can hardly be expected.

Among the survivors are to be found very few who use intoxicants or live intemperately. On the contrary, they are sober and industrious, and for most part Christians in heart as well as by profession.

While the veteran is not asking for favors, nor begging for applause, he would like to see all the people take an interest in soldiers' reunions, if for nothing else that to show their appreciation of his services.

Something More Precious, Perhaps.

Canada is, we understand, getting ready to claim Vermont. We didn't know that gold had been found in Vermont.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN BACK IN THE BOWERY

Thinks Paris a Shocking Place and Does Not Want to Return to Congress.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—"Big Tim" Sullivan returned from Europe with an even greater belief in the beauties of life in the Bowery than he ever had before. He has seen Paris and London and all the other great places of Europe, and still he is more than satisfied to remain below Fourteenth street, in "little old New York" for the rest of his days. He does not even want to return to his seat in congress, and announces positively that he will decline another election. "I prefer Albany," he said. "Washington is too far away from the Bowery to suit me."

There was no grand celebration upon the arrival home of "Big Tim." It wasn't because his friends were not glad he was back, but because the big fellow forbade the demonstration. The only person who went down the bay to meet him was "Little Tim." He told the wanderer all about what had happened in the Bowery during his absence, and how things were going politically. Of course, he could not tell him everything in so short a time, but he gave the big 'un a pretty fair outline of events. Then the congressman was taken in hand by the reporters and they made a lot of copy out of him.

Paris a Shocking Place.

"Big Tim" was terribly shocked by what he saw in Paris. "Why, New York is a Sunday school campmeeting in comparison," he said. Then he told some of the things he saw, and many of them certainly would not be allowed to be "pulled off" in New York. "Any reformer who compares New York to Paris ought to be jailed for the rest of his natural life," he said. "Paris is the permanent address of the Old Nick. I'd rather see New York in the bottom of the ocean than like Paris." What surprised him most was the fact that he could hardly move around over there without running against an American or two. They were in evidence everywhere, and he even met an old friend acting as guide at the tomb of Napoleon—"French John," who used to be seen around Fulton market, and whose vote helped to send Big Tim to congress.

Model in Name Only.

Another thing that shocked "Big Tim" exceedingly was the model lodging house, so-called. In Great Britain. "They are stables compared to the ordinary ten-cent lodging houses in New York," he said. "They are called model lodging houses because that was the name of the law under which they were built. But that is as far as they get toward being models." Other things struck him very much in the same way, and he especially noted the fact that the poor man has no chance over there, compared to conditions in this country. He did not attempt to explain his reasons for this, nor did anyone have the temerity to ask "Big Tim" if he had not learned something about the difference between protection and free trade while abroad. It would be useless to talk to him on the subject, as he is still wedded to the Democracy and Tammany, particularly Tammany.

New York's Municipal Lodging Houses.

New York's belief in the value of the municipal lodging house is shown by the appropriation of $200,000 for an additional one, which will be erected immediately. From 50,000 to 70,000 persons are sheltered in these establishments annually, and the demand for lodgings far exceeds the ability of the commission to meet it. Many of the lodgers only come occasionally, working when they can find work, and stopping at the expense of the city when they "are down and out." A great many of this class are women, some of them quite old. They do not like to admit that they are really paupers, and they manage to keep out of the poor house by doing odd jobs. Sometimes they fail to make both ends meet and are compelled to spend a few nights at the municipal lodging house.

Houses Are Really Models.

New York's municipal lodging houses are really models, though they do not bear that name. The beds are white and fresh, and the lodgers are compelled to take a bath before retiring. During the night their clothes are steamed and disinfected. Plain but wholesome food is also provided night and morning. New York's first municipal lodging house was opened in 1897 as an experiment. During that year 58,000 persons were housed and fed. In 1904 the number had increased to 70,000. The present buildings are inadequate and the proposed new ones are badly needed. Regular "customers" are not catered to, but the idea is to help those who are temporarily in financial straits.

RECIPROCITY AND TARIFF REVISION

Press Comments on Last Week's Convention in Chicago Present Different Views.

The whole subject of reciprocity, in the widest sense, is rich in possibilities. It affords opportunities for shrewd trade bargains which the American people can ill afford to neglect. The feeling is growing stronger, year by year, that such chances must not indefinitely be ignored. —Cleveland Leader (Rep.).

\+ \+ \+

Reciprocity a Failure.

Reciprocity as a general policy, is a failure, as all agree. There is no better way than to care for our own interests in the most effective manner, modifying the tariff when it is seen that it should be modified in the interest of the commerce of the country, pressed by the cries of warring and the passionate pleadings of the financial standpatters. The whole subject should be treated on the broad plane of the general welfare with equal courage and good sense. Then there will be no need of a new slogan "every little while."—Buffalo News (Rep.).

Worthy of Attention it Attracts.

The tariff conference at Chicago is worthy of the attention it attracts. Democrats and Republicans, business men and politicians, men in office and men out of office, are in session on a subject of the highest importance. Markets, and still more markets, for our rapidly increasing products of soil and skill and mine we must have. All agree on that point. Discussion plays around how they may be secured. Reciprocity has its champions. A maximum and minimum scale of duties—which is a species of reciprocity—is urged by others. Tariff revision, pure and simple, is also advocated. Relief in some form is necessary.—Washington Star (Ind.).

Predicts Tariff Adjustment.

The assembling of the conference and the agitation for tariff revision in the interest of protection and in maintenance of our vast foreign trade point to the conclusion that the present tariff is going to be adjusted in the near future.—Philadelphia Ledger (Ind.-Dem.).

\+ \+ \+

To Be Fought by the People.

Ultimately the issue will be fought out by the people; and the Chicago conference is one of the signs of what the alignment will be when the time comes.—Buffalo Courier (Dem.).

\+ \+ \+

Had an Anti-Protection Flavor.

The proceedings were not alone distinctly anti-reciprocity, but anti-protection. What was insisted upon was a revision of the tariff—this time under the guise of a minimum and maximum tariff, that is, one that provides a high schedule for countries that are unfriendly in their trade relations and a low schedule for those that are friendly. The great practical obstacle to reciprocity is the fact that it must be provided for by treaty, which, being subject to ratification by the senate, can be defeated by a third of the members. This has been the experience with those reciprocity treaties heretofore laid before that body.—Cincinnati Times-Star (Rep.).

The Democratic Remedy.

Let tariff reform be called tariff reform, and let an increase of the present duties be known as high protection run mad. Higher duties would involve more taxation for our own people and the threat of them would amount to futile tinkering with foreign markets. The only remedy for the present situation is tariff for revenue only.—Philadelphia Record (Dem.).

\+ \+ \+

Something Ought to Be Done.

Yet something ought to be done to promote the reciprocity policy, which Blaine rightly declared the complement of protection, and to the advocacy of which McKinley's last speech was devoted. From the viewpoint of practical politics it seems quite evident that little or nothing will be done on the lines hitherto followed or now proposed.—Chicago Inter Ocean (Rep.).

\+ \+ \+

A Futile Suggestion.

It is further said that when it is realized that under the existing system every business interest is likely to demand a special reciprocity treaty of its own, the nation is apt to decide to abolish the whole system of special privilege and let every tub stand on its own bottom. The suggestion that the tariff question should be taken out of politics is futile.—Indianapolis Sentinel (Dem.).

\+ \+ \+

Sane Sentiment.

The sentiment in favor of revision is sane and sensible Republicanism and Democracy, too, for that matter. It is the enlightened advanced thought of the age, which can no longer be suppressed at the bidding of politicians or by the conspiracies of the favored few. President Roosevelt will recognize this sentiment when he calls an extra session of congress to revise the tariff, and the country will be sorely disappointed in him if such a session is not called.—Ohio State Journal (Rep.).

Conquering Names.

The health of the Hon. John R. Thayer of Worcester is much better since, on his account, he refused to be the Democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts next fall. His spirits are cheery. He looks at the future and the logical ticket with a kindly eye.

Speaking to the reporters of the incomparable and irresistible combination of Gen. Nelson Appleton Miles and the Hon. Hosh Bykot, the kings of the heart of the commonwealth said:

"It would not only sweep Massachusetts with a broom, but ride through it with a sword."

Night is allus peart an' prime,
Better fun de day;

Birds a-singin' fine,
Pines a-smellin' in de wood—
But de night is mine.

Hush whisperin' "Howdy do?"
Es it pass you by;
Moon a-lookin' down at you,
Winkin' on de sly,
Peart a-smilin' from de pole,
Kingin' hens dey fill,
An' you listen 'way beyon'

Secretary Loeb Finishes Vacation.

William Loeb, Jr., private secretary to President Roosevelt, passed through Pittsburgh last night, returning from a month's vacation in Yellowstone park. Secretary Loeb was accompanied by his wife and they occupied in a special car attached to Fast Wayne train No. 6, that arrived at 9:25 o'clock, and was transferred at Union station to the rear of No. 35, Pennsylvania, leaving at 10 o'clock for New York. Mr. Loeb stated that he had spent a delightful month fishing and hunting near Livingston, Mont., and in Yellowstone park and he was going down to Oyster Bay to resume his duties.

Hotels Filled With Excursionists.

The hotels were filled yesterday with visitors from many nearby towns in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, brought here on the excursions of the Baltimore & Ohio, Wabash and Pennsylvania roads. The Sunday excursions to Wheeling are becoming more popular every week, and the Pennsylvania and Wabash are competing sharply with the Baltimore & Ohio for the trade. These two roads may follow the example of the Baltimore & Ohio and continue the Sunday excursions to Wheeling all through the year. The Baltimore & Ohio carried 1,500 excursionists from and to Wheeling yesterday, and the other two roads about the same number.

Pythians Come by Train Loads.

The crews of the Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads last night gave evidence of a mean convention to town. Special trains arrived during the day, bringing many Knights of Pythias from Charleston, W. While the national negro Pythian encampment is in progress here this week the headquarters will be at 125 Wylie avenue.

BLESS THE BELLS OF NEW CHURCH

Edifice of Braddock Polish Catholics Will Be Dedicated Next Sunday Morning.

CARNEGIE A CONTRIBUTOR

The congregation of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church, Polish, of Sixth street and Talbot avenue, Braddock, of which the Rev. Anthony Tarkowski is the pastor, will dedicate what is generally conceded by all denominations in the big borough of Braddock to be the handsomest church in that town of churches, from an architectural view, next Sunday morning. The Most Rev. Frederick Symon, archbishop of Plock, Russian Poland, who will arrive in this city this evening, will dedicate the edifice in the presence of many other high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church.

Several thousand Poles of Braddock and Monongahela and Turtle Creek valley towns were much disappointed because of the arrangments which prevented the archbishop arriving in this city on Saturday evening, he being detained in Cleveland until late this afternoon. Archbishop Symon wrote the Rev. Father Tarkowski some time ago that he would be at the "blessing of the bells" of Sacred Heart church, which took place last evening at 7:30 o'clock, and extensive arrangements had been made to receive the distinguished prelate by the congregation.

Blessed the Church Bells.

The service took place, however, at the hour scheduled. Some dozen or more Polish priests from Western Pennsylvania were at the service, and the beautiful new church, which was used yesterday for the first time, was completed only late on Saturday evening, and was last evening crowded to the doors by an immense audience of about 1,200. The blessing of the chime of bells was conducted by the Rev. Father L. M. A. Miskiewicz, pastor of St. Adelbert's Roman Catholic Polish church of the South Side. The sermon following the blessing was delivered by the Rev. Father Michael Kozlowski, assistant pastor of St. Adelbert's church. The music for the service was rendered for the first time in the history of the congregation by a choir of 16 male voices, conforming to the edict issued recently by Bishop Canevin at the request of Pope Pius. Miss Theodosia Tanska, the organist of the church for a number of years, is also the director. Among other prominent priests present at the service last evening were the Rev. Adelbert Kazincy, pastor of St. Michael's Slavonic, Braddock; the Rev. Father John Gozinski, pastor of St. Mary's, Polish, McKeesport; the Rev. Father Anthony Smelsz of the Holy Family, Polish, of this city, the first pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Braddock.

Dedication Next Sunday Morning.

The dedication of the beautiful new edifice, which was completed Saturday evening at a cost of a little over $50,000, will occur next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The principal reason for the coming of Archbishop Symon to the Pittsburgh diocese at this time is to investigate the condition of the Polanders of the Pittsburgh district, in common with his mission through the United States, approved several months ago by Pope Pius X., is to dedicate the Sacred Heart church at Braddock. Otherwise he would not have reached the Pittsburgh diocese until several months later. It had for weeks been his intention of reaching Braddock yesterday to bless the bells, and to remain in the Pittsburgh district until next Sunday, investigating the religious conditions which prevail among his people, and then to have dedicated the Braddock church.

The services next Sunday begin at 10:30 a. m. and will be ended at 1 o'clock. A parade over the principal streets of Braddock by some 40 or 50 Polish religious and beneficial societies will take place from the church, with Anton Pater as chief marshal, leader of the Poles of Braddock.

Many Priests to Be Present.

At the dedicatory services will be all the Polish priests of the Pittsburgh diocese, numbering 42, with the exception of a dozen, possibly, who have parishes at Mammoth, New Haven, West Newton, Connellsville and other places in the coke regions, where there are no assistant priests, and the pastor must conduct his early mass alone, and would not then be able to travel to Braddock in time for the service. All the priests in the diocese will be present who can solemnize the early mass and reach Braddock about four hours later.

The Braddock congregation was founded a little more than nine years ago through the hard work of the Rev. Anthony Smelsz, with 15 families on the roll of membership. Within a year or so the old frame church and parochial school were built, and they have been used for their original purpose until the present. Three years ago Father Smelsz was appointed to the pastorate of the Holy Family church, Forty-first street, this city. The Rev. Anthony Tarkowski, a native of this city, a son of James Tarkowski, was appointed to the Braddock pastorate of the Polish church by the late Bishop Phelan.

Career of the Pastor.

The Rev. Tarkowski went to Braddock shortly after his ordination to the priesthood. He spent seven years in the Polish seminary at Detroit, Mich., and after graduating there he spent a three-year theological course at St. Vincent college, Beatty station. For four months after his ordination he was assistant to the Rev. Father Miskiewicz on the South Side.

The church edifice to be dedicated next Sunday is of the old Spanish mission style of architecture. It has two immense towers fronting on Sixth street, each 90 feet high. The structure is of gray and brown brick. There are three main arched entrances from the Sixth street front. The building has a tiled roof, and the interior is finished in oak. There are 400 pews, or rather 200 double pews, each seating from eight to ten persons. The capacity of the auditorium is therefore given at between 1,200 and 1,400. The building is practically rectangular, the naves being small, with no seating capacity.

All the Windows Donated.

There are five large stained glass windows on each side, with one large one on the Sixth street front, donated by Anton Pater. All the windows were donated by individual members of the congregation. The altars are very beautiful, the main altar and two side altars costing $2,700. The windows and the six massive marble columns in the interior conform to the impressive and harmonious mission style of old Spain.

The contract for the church was let April of last year for $33,000, but the entire cost has reached $17,000 more. The architect was John Comes of this city, and the contracting builder Samuel Harris of this city. The site has a frontage of 134 feet in Sixth street, and 100 feet along Talbot avenue. It occupies 75 feet in Sixth street and 100 feet in Talbot avenue. The congregation has been promised one-half the cost of a $2,000 pipe organ by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, which will be installed in October. The three bells blessed yesterday cost $1,200, weigh 1,100, 800 and 600 pounds, and are named, Jesus, Mary and Joseph, respectively.

PITTSBURGH YOUNG LADIES THROWN FROM CARRIAGE

The Misses Dilworth Are Rendered Unconscious in Runaway Accident—Horses Ran a Mile Before Overturning Vehicle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

POINT PLEASANT, N. J., Aug. 20.—The Misses Dilworth of Pittsburgh, stopping at the Leighton hotel, drove to Sea Girt Junction this afternoon with their father, who took the Philadelphia train. The girls returned about 5 o'clock this afternoon with their driver, Christopher Brewer, known as one of the best horsemen in the vicinity.

An automobile crowded the carriage as it neared the south end of the Manasquan river bridge. In endeavoring to clear the machine the horses came in contact with the railing of the bridge. The neck yoke was broken, letting the tongue fall to the ground. This frightened the team, which started on a dead run up River avenue.

The driver was helpless. When he pulled on the reins, it drew the wagon against the horses, urging them on. When the fork of River and Richmond avenues was reached Brewer chose Richmond avenue, as the other had no outlet. The horses ran about a mile through town, crossing two trolley tracks, barely missing a car on Arnold avenue, and turning around the pharmacy of W. Warwick.

At the Arms hotel the carriage was overturned and all the occupants thrown out. The girls were picked up unconscious and taken into a drug store. They soon revived. Aside from a sprained ankle and being badly shaken up, they were not injured.

The driver held on to the horses and was dragged several yards. His right side was badly bruised. In the excitement the number of the automobile was not ascertained.

PREPARING FOR WAR WITH UNITED STATES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Venezuela has placed orders in Europe for torpedo boats, guns and ammunition at the cost of about $2,500,000, a larger amount than that little South American republic has ever expended at one time for war materials.

An American who has just returned from Venezuela is authority for the statement that President Castro recently declared that he was going to "fight the Yankee," which explains the unusually large orders for ships, arms and ammunition.

It is reported that when the Venezuelan chief executive heard recently of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge William J. Calhoun as special commissioner to investigate certain affairs at Caracas, his anger was great and his language immoderate. He announced that he would not permit the emissary of President Roosevelt to land in Venezuela.

SAILS AIRSHIP TWO MILES OVER CITY OF NEW YORK

Roy Knabenshue Has Honor of Being First Man to Arise Above Manhattan—Policeman Orders Him Off the Grass in Central Park.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York had a brand new thrill today when half a million persons saw Roy Knabenshue sail his airship two miles against a six-mile wind and back to the top of a tree in Central park. Until a spark plug was torn out by catching in the aeronaut's trousers as he moved forward and back on the framework of the ship in directing its flight he had the ship under perfect control.

Ascending from a vacant lot, at Sixty-second street and Central Park West, where the airship is housed in a tent, Knabenshue rose at an angle of 45 degrees, only to find himself helpless to operate his driving apparatus. He had thrown the power on too suddenly, the effect of which was to throw the driving chain off. A light breeze lifted the ship across the street and the release of a small amount of gas in the balloon let it settle easily on the west drive. His reception there by a policeman was one of the interesting side lights of the occasion.

"Get out of here with your machine, and do it mighty quick, or you'll come along with me," he was told.

It was a matter of only a few minutes to replace the driving chain, and once more the airship rose gracefully above the trees and sailed away amid the cheers of a crowd that had gathered. At a sharp angle it shot up until it had reached an altitude of about 1,000 feet, when the aeronaut brought it to an even keel and headed west.

By this time the streets were filled with thousands gazing excitedly at the first airship that has ever flown over New York, and other thousands crowded on housetops, all straining their eyes at the ship and at the speck in control of it. They saw him sweep widely about on the wind as easily as a yacht swings off to be swept before a breeze.

Cheer upon cheer had greeted Knabenshue when he came to earth in Central Park, where 5,000 persons crowded about the ship, surging about it as it was carried away, in total disregard of "keep off the grass" rules. It was Knabenshue's first trip in his airship No. 2. He expects to make several flights in the next few days.

DEATH CLAIMS HON. E. A. WHEELER

Prominent Citizen of Shenango Valley Succumbs to Attack of Heart Trouble.

HAD AN HONORED CAREER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHARON, PA., Aug. 20.—The Hon. E. A. Wheeler, one of Sharon's oldest and wealthiest citizens, was stricken with heart failure at his home in East State street this morning and died shortly after without regaining consciousness. He had been ill since last Friday, when he ran to catch a train at West Middlesex, but the physicians who were called attributed his indisposition to over-exertion. He retired in apparently good health last night and at 6 o'clock this morning his wife was awakened by heavy breathing. She discovered that he was unconscious and before a physician could be called he was dead. He was 77 years old, and had lived in Sharon since 1848.

The Hon. Earl A. Wheeler was born in Brookfield township, Trumbull county, O., and was a son of Alfred and Sarah Andrews Wheeler. He received the meager advantages of the pioneer schools of that vicinity and worked on the farm until he was 15 years old, when he began learning the tinner's trade in Warren. In 1848 he came to Sharon and opened the pioneer tin and stove store of the borough. He continued in business until 1862, extending the business meanwhile by adding general hardware and the manufacture of stoves, until he had one of the largest establishments in Sharon.

In 1862 he sold out and went into the coal business, which he followed successfully for 10 years. He then organized a company and built the Wheeler Iron Company furnace, which began business in 1873. The furnace was just ready to go into blast when the Jay Cooke failure paralyzed the business of the county, and the company's project faced failure. All save Mr. Wheeler withdrew from the concern. He stuck to it, although it took him 15 years to recover what he lost in one winter.

Hon. E. A. Wheeler.

In the fall of 1885 Mr. Wheeler leased the furnace and afterward became the largest stockholder in the company operating it. He sold the furnace at a handsome profit several years ago, ending his career as a pig iron manufacturer.

In 1840 Mr. Wheeler married Miss Mary Fuller of Trumbull county, Ohio. One daughter was born, Frances M., wife of Maj. James M. Paul of Upland, Cal. Mrs. Wheeler died in 1852 and he married in 1854 Mrs. Sally Gates, who survives him. Before the war Mr. Wheeler was a Democrat, but after it he became a Republican.

In 1869 he was elected to the state legislature and was re-elected in 1870. During his second term he introduced the first high license law, known as the "Mercer county ironclad," which, though at the time unpopular, served as the entering wedge for later temperance legislation. He was once the Prohibition candidate for surveyor general of the state. He filled the office of borough councilman several terms and was a director of the school board for 12 years. He was a Mason and a member of the A. O. U. W. The Wheeler vertical tube boiler, which is largely used in blast furnaces, was devised by him.

MILLER IS FACETIOUS.

Police Think He May Be Insane and Hold Him for Investigation.

During the hearings before Magistrate Negley at the East End police station yesterday morning, W. L. Miller of 830 Braddock avenue, retained for investigation as to his sanity, took it upon himself to announce the charges against the prisoners as they were led from the cell room before the magistrate.

As each man was called he announced, "There goes another quart."

His comments provoked quite a little merriment as of the 18 arrests made during the night, 12 were drunks. When Miller came before the magistrate he startled all by saying in a loud voice:

"I was arrested for selling ice water."

At first it was thought that he was under the influence of drink, but it developed later that he had not been drinking.

MAY HAVE WOMAN PASTOR.

Miss Lillian Williams, an Enrolled Minister, Preaches for Chatham Street Welsh Baptist Congregation.

Miss Lillian Williams of London, England, a regularly enrolled preacher in the Welsh Baptist church, occupied the pulpit of the Chatham Street Welsh Baptist church yesterday morning and evening. In the morning Miss Williams spoke in Welsh and in the evening addressed the congregation in English. She will preach again at both services next Sunday.

The pulpit of the church has been vacant since the resignation of the Rev. B. Mona Jones, six months ago, when the latter left to succeed to the pulpit of his brother in Australia, the latter having died. The report that Miss Williams was a candidate as regular pastor for the congregation could not be confirmed or denied last night.

An unknown man, aged about 50, was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio railroad train outside of the Willow Grove yards yesterday morning about 8:30, receiving a fractured skull and other injuries. He was removed to the Allegheny General hospital, where he died at 4:45 yesterday afternoon.

PITTSBURGH SUPPLYING TOOLS FOR WORK ON CANAL

In the Construction of the Big Trench on the Isthmus This District Is Playing Its Usual Conspicuous Part.

While it is generally understood that Pittsburgh would have her share in the building of the Panama canal, the fact of her having already begun to supply materials and tools for the preliminary work is not generally known, but one shipment having been noted. James B. Masters, general superintendent of steel inspectors of the Pittsburgh district, for Hildreth & Co. of New York, has, during the last three months, inspected over $120,000 worth of materials and tools, which have been shipped from this section.

In the preliminary work of surveying and clearing the dense growth of plants to permit the use of the steam shovels, matchets, adzes, brushhooks, axes and hatchets are requisite. From the shops of the American Ax and Tool Company, Glassport, the following shipments were made: July 12 and 18, 289 adzes, 200 clawhammers, 100 brushhooks, 600 hatchets, 1,000 axes, 300 adzes and 2,000 matchets. On July 22, from the shops of the Pittsburgh Shovel Company, Leechburg, 2,116 shovels were sent. From the shops of the New Castle Forge and Bolt Company, New Castle, 820 lining bars, commonly known as pinch bars, were shipped. From the shops of the Wheeling Corrugation Company of Wheeling, 12,000 galvanized iron down spouts were shipped on July 27.

The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company shipped 9,000 sheets of galvanized plates, filling five cars. From the shop of the Duff Manufacturing Company, Allegheny, 50 adjustable trenching screws were sent on July 1. On July 12 the Iron City Tool Company, Pittsburgh, sent 600 track mauls, 440 sledge hammers, 150 hammers, 50 claw bars, 300 lining bars, 200 spike mauls, 250 mattocks and 250 grubbing hoes. During the same month there was shipped from the Klein-Logan Company, Pittsburgh, 300 tamping picks, 640 spike mauls, 20 sledge hammers, 100 sledge hammers (two faced), 320 clay picks and 600 railroad picks.

Mr. Masters states that not only is Pittsburgh supplying the materials and tools, but that many operators for the machines and shopmen for the shops are leaving for the isthmus, and Pittsburgh materials and machines, made and operated by Pittsburgh mechanics, will play a most conspicuous part in the digging of the great trench.

Mr. Masters reports that his company has received word from their representative on the isthmus that health conditions have been greatly exaggerated, and that any person observing the simplest rules of health can endure the inconveniences of the tropical climate, and be exempt from disease. He also says that he is in receipt of many inquiries from skilled mechanics regarding the securing of work on the canal, and he thinks that there will be many more skilled artisans from this section leave for work on the canal during the coming fall and winter.

MAN DENOUNCES ARMY.

Socialist Creates Disturbance at National Guard Camp and Is Arrested by the Soldiers.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Bitter denunciation of militarism and vigorous arraignment of the method of promotion by favoritism caused the arrest of a young Socialist at Camp Dawson this afternoon.

He said that in the National Guard as in the army, men were not promoted for conspicuous service, but by politics. Somone who had been listening called the guard and a riot nearly ensued. Merrick was taken by a squad to the guardhouse, where he was kept until he promised to leave the grounds without creating any further disturbance.

"DODE'S" FLYING LEAP.

Newsboy With Nippers Dangling from Wrist Wrenches Away from Officers and Jumps from Car.

The police of the East End are on the lookout for "Dode" Aughenbaugh, a newsboy aged 19, who made his escape from two constables Saturday afternoon in a sensational manner.

"Dode" had been arrested while attending a ball game at Friendship park by Constable Hughey Dailey, of Alderman Walker's office, and was being brought to the office of the alderman by the constable and a deputy in a street car. "Dode" was in the grasp of a pair of "nippers" and was seemingly indifferent as to his fate.

Shortly after the car had started from the park the constable released his hold upon the nippers for an instant to reach into his pocket for the car fare.

"Dode" was not slow in recognizing his opportunity. Before the officers could get to their feet he had darted through the car and made a flying leap from the platform. By the time the car could be stopped "Dode" had such a start that nothing but a bloodhound could have recovered his trail. The constables continued the search for several hours but were unable to locate the boy.

RENEWED INTEREST IN THE TAGGART CASE

The Appearance of Col. Miner Is Awaited With Expectancy by Maj. Taggart's Friends.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 20.—Attorney Edward S. Werts, counsel for Major Taggart, said today that on Monday morning he will offer a motion to dismiss Mrs. Taggart's cross-petition for divorce. He pointed out that at the trial of Perry Rope for perjury in connection with the divorce case, Mrs. Taggart testified that she did not consider Wooster her home. "There is no question in my mind," said Attorney Werts, "but that Judge Eason will see his way clear to dismissing her petition."

Judge Smyser and Capt. J. B. Taylor, Mrs. Taggart's attorneys, scoffed at the idea of Mrs. Taggart's petition being dismissed. They declare that though Mrs. Taggart did say that she did not regard Wooster as her home, the fact remains that she has lived here long enough to gain a residence. They mentioned laws which clearly give her a residence in the state.

The fact that Judge Eason regarded the evidence against Col. C. R. Miner enough to uphold the petition of Major Taggart with reference to Miner's relations with Mrs. Taggart, has aroused renewed interest in the case, and the appearance of the colonel as a witness during the week is awaited with expectancy.

Col. Miner is expected to disprove the charges of conspiracy against Major Taggart. Should the defense fail in this the impression here is that Major Taggart will have won his case. Judge Smyser said this evening that he had received a message from Clinton Spencer stating that he would report here Monday evening ready to take the stand.

PROBABLE SERIES BETWEEN YOUNGSTOWN AND WINNER OF TRI-STATE

BIG SERIES IS BEING PLANNED

Champion Club of the Tri-State May Meet Marty Hogan's Club This Fall.

Williamsp't	58	40	.592	Lancaster	40	61	.396
Johnstown	56	41	.577	Wilmington	26	73	.263

A post-season series of games between Youngstown, the present leaders in the race for the championship of the Independent association (if it wins the title), and the champion club of the Tri-State league, is a probability. Manager Marty Hogan of Youngstown yesterday said he is anxious to arrange such a series, and it is known that some of the clubs of the Tri-State will play post-season games.

The Johnstown club, for instance, is already said to be securing games with independent clubs to be played at the end of the Tri-State championship series. The Flood city team is coming with a rush in the race for the championship, and it still has a good look in.

It is a good thing to watch the horse that is coming hard from behind, and this can be likened to the Johnstown team. Johnstown is now but 69 points behind York, the leaders, for first place in the Tri-State.

In the event of even York, Harrisburg or Williamsport winning the Tri-State championship, Youngstown will make an effort to have the winning team play in its town. Such a meeting would be of interest all over the country. Youngstown has one of the best independent teams ever organized in this part of the country, and the Tri-State claims to be equal in strength to any minor league in the land, next to the two big leagues.

Marty Hogan, nevertheless, thinks there is no team that has anything on his hopefuls. Last year Youngstown beat the Pittsburgh and Brooklyn National league teams easily, and won two straight games from an All-American association outfit.

PHIL LEWIS IS PLAYING STAR GAME AT SHORT

The fine work of Phil Lewis, the Pittsburgh boy, on the Brooklyn team, is pleasing to his friends. There are ball players in the league who declare that he is the best shortstop in the organization. Some persons have affected to make it appear that Lewis is a youngster bereft of good judgment, but the fact is that he is a very wise boy. He lost nothing by jumping the team and playing with Harrisburg. When Brooklyn induced him to rejoin the team it presented him with a contract that calls for next year and at a salary that is as large as any other star in the league is getting. Lewis is an admirer of manager McGraw of New York and McGraw thinks highly of Lewis. Pittsburgh had a chance of getting Lewis when he was still a student at Cornell. He, however, turned down the offer from Pittsburgh and went with Hugh Jennings to Baltimore instead.

Manager Selee of Chicago thinks well of Magee, the Philadelphia left fielder. Before leaving for the Coast Selee offered Pitcher Bob Wicker and the pick of any Chicago outfielder, Maloney excepted, for Magee, but the Phillies said no. Pitcher Mitchell of Brooklyn discovered Magee playing with independent teams in the eastern end of the state and he had Philadelphia sign him.

Manager Heckert of the York club has signed Harry McCormick, the former New York and Pittsburgh National league outfielder.

"Connie" Mack believes the Athletics will capture the American league pennant. Says Mack: "It is never wise for a baseball manager to prophesy that his team will win the championship, as you never know what hard luck is in store, and the way baseball championships are decided these days the slightest bit of misfortune will knock the best team out of the race. I like my team's chances. For the last two months we have gone faster than any team in the league. My men are in the best of physical trim, and if they don't land on top, like they did in 1902, when the McAleerites chased us under the wire, I don't know where the pennant is going. Of course, should we lose the services of Davis, Murphy or Hartsel for as long a period as the Nans have battled minus Lajoie, why we, I'm afraid, would drop out of the race. But with the luck of the game breaking even I am confident that we will win first honors."

There is a great row on among those ball players who have a chance of being in the team that wins out in this year's race. Both in Cleveland and Chicago there has been heard a vast rumble like thunderous mutterings before a storm. It is then hinted that there may be no post season games unless the players who take part receive a greater share of the receipts. It seems to be taken for granted in the west that New York will hold its National league flag. But in the American league the race must be fought out among Athletics, White Sox, Blues and Highlanders, any one is likely to be victor. There are in consequence a matter of 75 professional ball players who look forward to getting a bunch of money.

When Pittsburgh lost to Boston in 1902 there was an even division, 50 per cent to management and employees. This year the latter receive but 40 per cent out of the first four games. The club gets its 50 per cent, but the other 10 goes to the National commission, which also gets a rake-off in the other three games.

The National commission say they'll use the money to buy souvenir badges of beaten gold, said badges to be worn by the lucky players and later on by their grandchildren. But what good can such a badge be to a man like Dan McGann, confirmed bachelor?

Further than this the winning team receives 75 per cent of the 40 per cent of the gross. Supposing the Giants beat their opponents four straight games, how much would each player of the losing club get? Well, a couple of suits of clothes at most.

Terre Haute Trying to Sign the Crack Southpaw of the Waynesburg Team.

The Terre Haute Central league club is trying to secure Miller, the Allegheny southpaw on the Waynesburg team. Miller is but 18 years old and Milt Montgomery picked him up from a local amateur team. He was with Slippery Rock Normal school, but joined Waynesburg at the close of the school season. He won 10 straight games for Waynesburg. Another player that Waynesburg will have difficulty in retaining for next year is Ben. Montgomery, the catcher. Several managers are watching his work. Marty Hogan thinks he is the best youngster hereabouts.

First Baseman Harmuth and Catcher Fehring of Allegheny, who played with Slippery Rock Normal school last spring, will be tried out by Fairmont this week.

Youngstown plays at Braddock today and tomorrow.

GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at New York.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.
Chicago at Brooklyn.
St. Louis at Boston.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Today was a restful one for the Pirates, the weather just being cool enough to move around with comfort, but at that many of the Pittsburgh team hardly moved from their hotel, while others visited New York's nearest approach to Atlantic City—Pittsburghers' favorite coast resort—Coney Island, and other seashore resorts in and around New York.

Capt. Clarke, as on his last invasion of the east, turned down good offers to play exhibition games today. The New York series opens at the Polo grounds tomorrow. In speaking about his chances with McGraw's champions, beginning tomorrow, Capt. Clarke said:

"This season on form, if you can use the expression in baseball, we have something on the Giants so far. Of the 16 games played up to date we have won nine against New York's seven, with six more to play—three in New York and three in Exposition park. So you see we will almost to a certainty win the season series from them. And again, all our hard work has been done, while the Giants have theirs to do yet.

"I don't expect to have to play any harder to win from the Giants than we did from the Hanlonites, last week. Every game of the three played in Brooklyn was won by one run, at that we won the series.

"The trouble in the Brooklyn series was the poor stick work of our heaviest hitters. Wagner striking out more times than he hit safe. This did not effect the big fellow's fielding in the least. So this slump cannot last much longer, and I look for better stick work starting tomorrow."

Secretary Knowles of the New York club says the advance sale of seats for the coming Pittsburgh-New York series has been the largest in the history of the club.

NEW SWIMMING MARK.

C. M. Daniels Beats Renear of Honolulu in Record Time.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—The twelfth annual swimming championship meeting of the Atlantic division of the Amateur Athletic union was decided at Lafayette, in the Schuylkill river, yesterday afternoon. The greatest interest centered in the annual race for the Sachem cup. This was decided over a 100-yard course, finishing in front of the club wharf. There were six men entered for the competition, but only two came to the mark, C. M. Daniels, the holder, and Dan Renear of Honolulu. The latter was reported to have swam 150 yards in 1 minute at Honolulu in November last, and as he had a long list of victories to his credit, having beaten Zoge besides the best men in the country, a great contest was looked for. They both got away to a good start, Daniels being the quicker to take the water. He at once set a very fast pace, Renear holding him well until 60 yards, when the New Yorker showed slightly in front. Renear's stroke was rough and splashy and he seemed to be working harder than Daniels in order to keep the pace, while Daniels' stroke was quicker and smoother.

Renear gradually lost ground, and Daniels touched the tape four yards to the good, in 83 1-5 seconds, a new American record, being three-fifths of a second faster than last year's time.

CALLERY TO DRIVE.

Will Be Behind Dr. Strong in Race for the Gold Cup.

The Matinee club will have a race meeting at Brunots island next Saturday, the last one in advance of the intercity races in Chicago. It was the intention to ship to Chicago this week, but this program has been changed. In the free-for-all next Saturday J. D. Callery will drive Dr. Strong, the gray gelding with a mark of 2:06. Mr. Callery also will drive the gray horse in the Gold Challenge Cup race in Chicago on August 31. This move was made at the request of Mr. Pickering, owner of Dr. Strong, who thinks that Mr. Callery's experience as a teamster will further Pittsburgh's chances to win the gold cup. Dr. Strong was bea

WILL REORGANIZE CHINA'S AFFAIRS

Special Envoys to Study Administrative Systems of Occidental Countries.

TO ADOPT MODERN METHODS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20.

China's government will soon be reorganized along the lines of all that is best in the administrative system of occidental countries.

Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, has been advised by cable of the appointment at Pekin of special representatives of the various branches of the government who will visit the United States and Europe to make a close study of government systems. Most prominent of all these officials is Tung Fong, viceroy of Hunan, who, during the Boxer outbreak in 1900, bore a prominent part in the protection of the missionaries. Another official designated for the same duty is Chu Chi Chang, assistant minister of war, who was recently made a member of the Chinese cabinet. A third is the assistant minister of finance, Tai Huang Chi, and a fourth is a prince who is a prominent official of the Chinese foreign office, but whose name as transmitted by cable is so garbled that Sir Chentung is not certain of his identity.

Sign of Progress.

Tung Fong has a son, Toko, who is being educated in Washington and has just smashed his third automobile.

On the part of all close observers of Chinese affairs, including E. H. Conger, now American ambassador, but formerly minister to China, this is regarded as a most significant sign of progress. Hitherto Chinese officials have visited foreign countries and have made inquiries as to methods of civil administration. They have not been men of sufficient influence to introduce improved methods at home.

The men who are now to circle the globe in search of the best ideas for application to the Pekin government command the ear of the highest powers in China. They represent the progressive element in the government, which has worked wonders since 1900 in the direction of cultivating close commercial and political relations with Europe and America, but have at the same time sought to awaken self-reliance on the part of the Chinese people.

Great Changes Are Coming.

With the gradual extension of the "open door" policy in China, with the remotest parts of the empire penetrated by railroads built by foreign capital, with the government at Pekin awakened to a realization that it must restrain bursts of fanaticism against the "foreign devils," great changes are coming over China and the government at Pekin to keep pace with the new commercial spirit finds itself obliged to adopt modern methods of doing business instead of clinging to the system which for centuries has served well the successive dynasties.

President Roosevelt is expected to make a special effort to impress the Chinese of high degree who are soon to visit the United States with the idea, not alone of America's friendship, but of the desire here felt of treating that country fairly on a business basis.

NOVEL CHURCH SERVICE IS HELD BY THE GIDEONS

Religious Organization of Commercial Travelers Take Charge of Pulpit and Gain Converts.

Unique religious services were conducted in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, yesterday morning by the Gideon Band, an organization of commercial travelers who devote themselves to religious and missionary work.

The church was crowded and many were standing. C. C. Dornbush of this city, state president of the organization, presided. The first address was made by Louis Ward, who is in charge of the Gideon mission, known as St. Paul's mission, in Wilmot street. He gave an interesting account of his conversion, declaring that he was the son of a saloonkeeper and had been a chronic drunkard for many years, until converted at a meeting in Chicago five years ago.

G. W. Prather, a commercial traveler who resides in Wilkinsburg, gave an interesting account of the work being accomplished by St. Paul's mission and told entertaining stories of conversions made. The service closed with an address by E. E. Bayliss of Boston, who spoke of the missionary efforts of the Gideons throughout the country. After the general service an altar service was held, when many came forward and asked for prayers in their behalf. Following these services the Gideons went to McKees Rocks, where a union service was conducted by them.

A new gospel wagon secured by popular subscription, was sent out for the first time yesterday by St. Paul's mission. It was taken to Forward, near Second avenue, during the afternoon and attracted a congregation of 1,000. Several conversions were reported.

BOY IS RUN DOWN BY AUTO IN SCHENLEY PARK

George Taylor, a negro aged 14, of 2438 Wadsworth street, was run down by an automobile driven by G. L. White of 5601 Howe street, while riding a bicycle on the serpentine drive in Schenley park yesterday afternoon. The automobile came up behind the boy, who became confused at the alarm signal and crossed in front of the machine. He was not severely injured, but Mr. White took him to the office of Dr. S. H. Ralston, who dressed his injuries, after which the automobile took him home.

CENTENARIAN STATESMAN DEAD

SENATOR DAVID WARK.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 20.—The Hon. David Wark, the oldest legislator in the world, died at his home in this city today. Mr. Wark was a member of the Canadian senate at Ottawa, a life office. His age was 101 years, 6 months.

The centenarian statesman served in the Canadian senate continuously since 1867. Mr. Wark was a native of Ireland. He left that country when he was 21 and came to New Brunswick, which was then a prosperous colony. For nearly 80 years he lived in Fredericton and his great age seems not to have impaired his faculties.

PRESERVING OLD BOOKS OF STATE

Splendid Results of Archive Work of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

NECESSITY FOR A MUSEUM

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., Aug. 20.

The old books and records of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which have long been neglected, are now being systematically collected, classified and preserved. Much information as to the progress of this work is given by Thomas Lynch Montgomery, state librarian, in his latest annual report, which is now in the state printer's hands and will soon be ready for distribution.

Mr. Montgomery says that the archive work, which was begun under an appropriation of the legislature of 1903, at the suggestion of Gov. Pennypacker, has been followed up with great assiduity by Luther R. Kelker and his corps of assistants.

"The results are apparent in a series of 25 large volumes of mounted papers," adds Mr. Montgomery, "the work of which has received the encomiums of the members of the archive commission and the experts who have examined it. Several tons of papers have been transferred from the different departments and have been repaired and put into appropriate classifications so as to be available for reference; and these will be bound up within reasonable time. As yet the papers of the auditor general's department and the department of the secretary of the commonwealth only have been examined."

Mr. Montgomery is a firm believer in the necessity for a state museum, such as was authorized by a law passed by the last legislature, and the adaptation of the present executive building to library and museum purposes.

He suggests in his report that the present quarters of the auditor general be converted into a law library where members of the profession could obtain well lighted quarters and the quiet which is necessary for their research.

"The space now occupied by the state treasurer," he continues, "might be devoted to the department of history, biography and genealogy, in each of which classes the state library is strong. The room known as the stack room might be converted into a room for periodical literature, for which no provision was made in the present arrangement.

"The state has possessed for years a considerable collection of objects which were prepared at great expense for expositions, more particularly those in Chicago and St. Louis, and the librarian has made the suggestion that these be gathered together to form the nucleus of collections of flora and fauna of the state and those objects which contribute to the history of the state and its industries."

As to the advisability of retaining the executive building as a permanent feature on the hill after the completion of the new capitol, Mr. Montgomery states that whatever may be the final decision on this point, it would be, in his opinion, exceedingly unwise to hurriedly build other quarters for the library and the projected museum.

EXCITEMENT CAUSES DEATH.

Young Boy Succumbs to Heart Failure While Fire Alarms Were Sounding for a Large Fire.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—One life was lost as a result of the destructive fire early this morning at the plant of the New Castle Forge and Bolt Company, the death of Robert A. Grace, 11 years old, being caused by heart failure, induced by excitement incident to the clanging of fire gongs as the departments raced past his home. He had been ill from typhoid fever and was apparently recovering.

Charles J. Kirk, president of the Forge and Bolt company, this afternoon placed the fire loss at over $100,000, upon which $70,000 insurance was carried. The flames are supposed to have originated in the huge gas producers and spread through the underground gas ducts to all parts of the plant. Three months will be required to rebuild the plant, if this is undertaken at once. The directors will hold a meeting tomorrow.

BEARS MANY WOUNDS.

McKeesport Bartender Is the Victim of a Murderous Assault Made in the Dark.

John Miller of 747 Pearl street, McKeesport, is in the McKeesport hospital as the result of an assault made upon him about 3 o'clock yesterday morning while he was on his way home from the saloon of John J. Connelly, where he is a barkeeper. Miller has several gashes in his head and face inflicted by a large knife. His assailant escaped and Miller lay on the sidewalk unconscious from loss of blood until a passerby almost stumbled over him and called the police.

Miller is unable to tell much about the assault. He had not gone far from the saloon before a man jumped out of the shadows and attacked him. Several thrusts found a mark on Miller's head and face, and before he could grapple with the cutter the latter fled, taking the knife with him.

FINE UPRIGHT PIANOS
being sacrificed at
SUTER'S PIANO STORE,
6202 PENN AVE.
Remember the place.

At 8 a. m. today we start. Store OPEN UNTIL 9 P. M. All week.

All new pianos in this store must be of latest design and style. No piano new or used is carried over four months. This is our imperative time limit—4 months and out—no here they go: Two parlor size uprights that have been used, go at $90 and $110. They are worth twice as much.

One of the celebrated Mathushek uprights goes at $150. Cost new $400. This is like giving it away.

Remember, you can buy for $10 to $35 down and $6 to $10 per month.

It seems almost ruinous to sell such a fine piano as the "Schirmer" for $155, when it's worth $275—but that's what we're doing.

Bottom knocked completely out of the price on the regular $300 "Fernwood"—it goes for $150—and the price beats anything we have ever sold.

Here's a snap—Regular $400 upright, standard make—used 6 months, $125; not a blemish; nowhere else can a purchase like this be made. See it.

Look at this—Three of those famous Christie & Co. uprights, beautiful mahogany cases, that we've sold for years at $375, $400 and $425, knocked down now at $241.50, $246.50 and $250.

A little shopworn—that's all, but they must go.

This one for club or den—Briggs. Mission art piano. Sold before at $500, but this one goes at $350. On floor only for exhibition 4 months. Clubmen, see this. Easy payments.

Three elegant Briggs uprights, the finest pianos made, are offered now at $125 and $150, below retail price. Only used as samples 4 months. Perfect, of course.

Any second-hand piano purchased during this sale can be returned in two years at full price on a new upright.

Every piano in this sale is guaranteed to the very limit—never before, never again, will you get such a chance. Come quickly—buy before it is too late.

Anything you want from $90 up.

Car fare one way allowed customers within 100 miles.

First comers get best selection.

Tomorrow at 9 a. m. we start. Open 9 A. M. TO 9 P. M. All week.

PLENTY OF GRAFT IN OLDEN DAYS

Allegheny Minister's Sermon Shows the Unjust Steward as Educated Scoundrel.

THE WAGES OF DISHONESTY

In Grace Lutheran church yesterday morning the Rev. G. Irving Lenker had for his theme, "The Unjust Steward an Educated Scoundrel." He said:

These words picture to us a young man holding the office of steward or chief clerk on the vast landed estates belonging to a certain rich man. The work connected with this office was not burdensome, but offered an easy, yet at the same time, lucrative position. It was the duty of the steward to collect the rents and in a general way oversee the management of the lands belonging to his lord. It is interesting to note that the rents were not paid in money, but in kind, that is in produce. The rent to be collected was a certain portion of the crop which would vary according to the harvest. The owner of these lands as a rule received the tenth part of the crop; then if the produce of an olive yard was a thousand measures of oil, the owner was entitled to one hundred measures. So in the case of an arable farm, a rent of a hundred measures of wheat would represent a crop of a thousand measures. It depends upon the good faith of the tenant to state truly the amount gathered in; and against false returns the chief check was provided in this steward.

This officer, like many others of the present day, afforded opportunities for grafting and dishonesty, and it seems the young steward was not slow in laying hold of these unrighteous privileges. His wages were high enough to keep him in moderate circumstances and by saving, he might have laid by enough of this world's goods in an honest way to support him all his life. But here was a temptation he could not resist. Instead of devoting his money to more useful objects he began to speculate. It was not a long while until his wages were insufficient to meet his obligations, and then he did what thousands have since done and are doing today. He did the most unrighteous and dishonest thing in the world. He began to steal his master's money. He simply took it with the honest intention of returning it, no doubt. A man in such a position of trust, honored and respected by the tenants must be well dressed. He must have the finest of clothing, the latest of fashions. I tell you it costs money to live up to date and to move in the highest circles of society. Drinks must be paid for and suppers attended. No matter what comes he must make a show of plenty. Thus we have here an illustration of a young man, a trusted employe who lived far beyond his income, and the result was he began to steal. At first he only took the nickles and dimes, and then he reasoned, if I can return these, I can return five dollars. So from bad to worse he goes until the amount, which he had so dishonestly appropriated for his own selfish needs, had reached such a large sum that it was impossible for him to return it.

He was in hard straits. He was pressed to the wall. But my friends, the deceitful man, the grafter, the dishonest man is not without ready resources. He is one of those scoundrels who knows what to do when he is caught. He did not long meditate and consider. Realizing that he must openly face the charges brought against him, and being cognizant of the fact that now he can no longer be steward, he shrewdly formulates a plan by which those with whom he had hitherto stood in the relation of steward of a vast estate, may receive him into their houses as a welcome guest. He determines to do his clients such a turn that they will not allow him to suffer when he is put out of his office. The dishonest man is not satisfied to commit crimes himself, he must drag some one else along with him, and the shrewd politician will always play this game when he is run to earth. Accused of wasting his master's goods, and conscious of his guilt, why shall he not continue in the same direction so long as he has the opportunity.

Summoning his master's debtors he makes a proposition to them. He tells each one to make an alteration on his bond. In so doing he does not suggest fraud or forgery, for he is still steward and has power to dispose of his master's affairs. In remitting a part of the debt, whether it had been incurred as rent in kind or as the price of produce purchased, he still acts within his rights, but unrighteously so. He shapes it in such a manner that neither he nor the debtors could be charged with crime. The owner of the estate could not help but commend him for his cleverness in thus securing for himself a future home by making friends with his former clients while he still had the right and power so to do, ere the mammon of unrighteousness should fail him. In the one case he permitted a bill to be taken and an account given of $90, in the other case of 500, instead of a thousand measures. The tenants considered him a very benevolent man and they expressed their highest gratitude. Thus we have here a specimen of the world's benevolence and of the world's gratitude.

Help a man make his fortune and you will win gratitude every time. Yes, his lord commended him for his wisdom and for his shrewdness. The world's wisdom is wise in its contriving selfishness; wise in its masterly superiority; wise in its adaptation of means to ends, wise in its future success. But after all it is a success which will only last for a generation. If this world were all, it would be wise to strive for it to live for, but it is only for a generation.

We live in an age, dear friends, when the desire for wealth has become an imperious passion. Men will do almost anything to secure it. Oceans and seas are crossed, and mountains scaled to secure it. Men dig down deep into the bosom of the earth, or work in shops and factories to get possession of it. Parents will seek to impress the importance of money upon their children, fostering a love of money in their offspring. They poison their young minds with sordid thoughts. The sum total of their teachings is the way to fortune. Thus the young with fiery zeal strive after it, while the old clutch it in their time stiffened hands. All ages and classes are running the race of wealth. It is a test of man's respectability and worth. No wonder our cities and country today is full of grafters, full of petty thieves. They have been educated right along the lines of the unjust steward. Men today are expending their energies and working their bodies and their minds for what St. Paul so aptly terms "the filthy lucre." Year in, year out we elect officials who upon oath promise to enforce every city statute. Months pass by and we hear nothing more of them but that they are drawing their salaries and that they are compromising their good intentions with some evil power for the sake of a few paltry dollars on the side. Well, it will help them to a home, no doubt, after their stewardship is taken away from them. They get paid for closing their eyes on this club room and on that house of ill fame which is dragging to perdition a mother's only son. They are to be commended for their cleverness. May we not pray for men who have the bravery of a Christian.

POOL THEIR ISSUES.

Ministerial Candidate Preaches Before Four Trial Boards.

Local Presbyterian congregations who are at present without pastors have pooled their issues and committees from these churches are to hear a number of candidates in unison.

The first to be heard by these committees was the Rev. Frank M. Silsley of Meadville, who preached yesterday morning in the East End Presbyterian church before committeemen representing the Park Avenue, Fourth, and Second church of Wilkinsburg. The East End church is also in quest of a pastor, and these four congregations are to hear other preachers during the next few weeks.

Tells of Home Mission Work.

Willis F. Baer, secretary of the Presbyterian board of home missions, occupied the pulpit of the East Liberty Presbyterian church yesterday morning and evening. Mr. Baer, who is a layman, devoted his addresses to a review of the work accomplished by his board among the foreigners in this country.

FEW MINISTERS IN TWO CITIES

More Visitors Than Resident Pastors Occupy the Pulpits of Local Churches.

THE RECORD IS EXCEPTIONAL

No man is without honor, save in his own country—in hot weather. This theory seems to prevail without much dissension among local clergymen, for a careful review of all pulpit notices concerning yesterday's services which were sent to local newspapers, discloses the fact that in 64 congregations in the two cities 38 pulpits were occupied by visitors and that but 26 resident pastors delivered sermons in their own churches yesterday. One of the 26 laid the corner stone for a new church and was aided by a delegation of visitors. Fifteen of the most prominent churches in the community were closed and without services yesterday, including the First, Second and Fourth Presbyterian and Third United Presbyterian churches.

The absence of clergymen from the city at this time is the rule rather than the exception, but at no time this year nor at any time in previous years, has there been such a complete exodus of ministers of all denominations from the two cities as was apparent yesterday.

Whether or not the vacation of pulpits during a portion of the summer months and the reduction of the number of services, or complete abatement for a time, is to the best interests or to the detriment of a congregation and denomination is a question which church publications are at present reviewing and determining to solve.

Many of the local absentees from pulpits are employing a portion of their vacations in preaching to congregations in proximity to their chosen place of rest, and likewise some of the visiting clergymen are robbing themselves of a portion of their vacations for the purpose of occupying the pulpits of those who are absent from this section. The theory is advanced that this exchange of pulpits is a pleasing and beneficial break in monotony for both visiting pastor and resident congregation, while the change of scene for the preacher is said to be of physical as well as mental benefit.

Among prominent local clergymen who were not in their pulpits yesterday are: The Rev. Drs. Daniel Dorchester, Maitland Alexander, W. A. Stanton, Warren G. Partridge, David McAllister, R. M. Russell, W. L. McEwan, S. Edward Young, J. Leonard Levy, J. T. McCrory, W. P. Schrom, D. C. Martin, C. S. McClelland, H. D. Lindsay, W. S. Fulton, Frank W. Sheed, D. L. Johnson, J. K. McClurkin, W. R. Thompson, J. W. Webb, J. S. Hutson, Wallace Tharp, and the Revs. Daniel Russell, I. A. Barnes, C. L. Thurgood, F. W. Ware, C. S. Beatty, John M. Gaston, H. J. Giles, J. A. Henderson, G. W. Robinson, Robert W. Woods, Eli Miller, J. Shane Nicholls, and the Rev. Dr. D. H. Geissinger.

THE CONSTRAINT OF LOVE IS A POWERFUL FORCE

The Greatest of Emotions Transforms Humanity So as to Become Partakers of the Divine Nature.

"The Constraint of Love" was the sermon theme of the Rev. E. E. Manley, pastor of the Belmar Christian church, last evening. He said in part:

A wonderful dynamic is needed to transform humanity so as to become partakers of the divine nature. Of the different emotions that govern the life of man, such as hate, fear, sorrow, joy, etc., love is the highest, purest, strongest.

The old time theology taught that God by His spirit wrought directly on the heart of the sinner to convert him, but a later, more careful and rational teaching shows that God deals with man as man and influences him through the intellect, affections and will. Hence, we are told that "the gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation."

That gospel shows that "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on Him might not perish but have everlasting life." Love begets love, and "We love Him because He first loved us."

With infinite love exerted in our behalf and the inspired word of God telling us of the full manifestation of that love, our hearts are melted and we are constrained to show our love by lives of loyalty and labors of love. Love is more than an emotion or a sentiment. Sometimes these are thought to exhaust its meaning, and a few tears to show the emotion and a few words to express the sentiment are considered sufficient offerings to God. But love is an active principle and Jesus says: "If ye love Me keep my commandments." And Paul says: "By love serve one another." The constraint of love then is Godward and manward leading us to do the will of God from the heart and to "love one another with pure hearts fervently."

Organ Recital Is Given.

E. G. Klaphaky, organist of St. Michael's German Roman Catholic church, South Fifteenth and Pius streets, gave an organ recital in the church yesterday afternoon, in which he was assisted by Miss Josephine Klaphaky and Marcus B. Kellerman as soloists, and the St. Michael's church choir. Compositions by Bach, Handel, Rossini and other masters were given.

SETTLE FAMOUS CASE.

Cardinal Gibbons Announces Rospigliosi Affair Will Not Be Reopened.

BALTIMORE, MD., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—It may be authoritatively stated that the much discussed Rospigliosi case is finally settled—that it will not be reopened. This announcement was made by Cardinal Gibbons today.

The Rospigliosi case has been prominent in Catholic circles since 1887, when the late Archbishop Chapelle, then of Washington, applied to the cardinal for a special dispensation or Catholic form called in disparitate cultus, a form to be used for the marriage of a Catholic to an unbaptised person. In this case those asking for the form were Miss Reid and Col. Parkhurst.

The two were afterwards divorced and Mrs. Parkhurst went through a form of marriage with Prince Rospigliosi. The marriage they attempted to have validated in Rome on the ground that the proper form had not been used in the first instance. The case was finally brought before the pope, who decided that the marriage with Col. Parkhurst was valid and that, therefore, the second marriage could not be recognized. His holiness also declared that no further appeal should be entertained.

INJURED ARE IMPROVING.

Miss Evelyn Walsh the Only Victim of the Newport Automobile Accident Who Is Suffering.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20.—Those who escaped death, but who were injured in the automobile accident here yesterday, had greatly improved tonight. During last night, Miss Evelyn Walsh, daughter of Thomas F. Walsh of Washington, suffered much. Her injury is a fracture of a thigh bone. Miss Walsh has not been informed of the death of her brother Vinson, who was fatally injured when his machine tore through the guard rails of the bridge. Mrs. James L. Kernochan of Hempstead, L. I., Harry Oelrichs and Herbert Pell, both of New York, are much better and the latter was out of doors today.

Private services over the body of Vinson Walsh will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Trinity church. His death was due to hemorrhage of the brain, caused by a fracture of the skull.

Suit Case Goes for $1.

B. F. Lalley was yesterday fined $10 or 30 days for taking a suit case belonging to a stranger and pawning it for $1.

JOHN BROWN'S GRAVE IN ADIRONDACKS STILL KEPT GREEN

Body Lies With Feet Pointing to Large Rock Where He Cut His Initials.

OTHERS OF FAMILY THERE

(Special Letter to The Gazette.)

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Aug. 17.—"John Brown's body lies a-moldering in his grave" runs the old song, and the grave that contains the mortal remains of the great Abolitionist lies away up here in the heart of the Adirondacks, hundreds of miles away from the scenes of the tragic events of his stormy life. When he was about to be executed at Charlestown, Va., after his apparently futile raid at Harpers Ferry, he made one dying request.

"When I am dead," said he, "take me back to my old home in the Adirondacks and bury me with my feet pointing towards the great rock upon which in my earlier days I carved my initials."

And there he lies today, his bones "a-moldering in his grave," while "his soul goes marching on." The enormous rock which is his monument and the graves which lie at its base are surrounded by an iron fence 10 feet high, enclosing a plot 70x75 feet in dimensions. Roses and poppies bloom within the plot, although the grass grows rank and there is a wild beauty about the spot that seems consistent with the rugged character of the man buried within.

There are five graves within the iron enclosure. The first, and the only one marked by a headstone, is that of John Brown. Next to him lies his brother, and then come the graves of his two sons, one of whom was killed at Harpers Ferry, and the other, who met a violent death in the stirring times in Kansas. In the last grave lies the bones of nine men who fought that hopeless battle with John Brown at Harpers Ferry and were killed in the engagement. Their names are known, but there is no headstone to announce them to future generations. They were disinterred at Harpers Ferry and brought up here to rest beside the remains of their old leader.

The Old John Brown Homestead in the Adirondacks.

John Brown was born in Torrington, Conn., in 1800, and in his youth he moved with his parents to Ohio. When he came to live up here in the mountains he was a man of 45, and although he had a farm of 244 acres, it was mostly timber land and yielded a rather scanty income. But he built a substantial little house on the property, which building remains as it was originally, except that a small wing has been built on the rear. It is now occupied by Reuben Lawrence, the caretaker, who knew John Brown in his youth and who devotes himself to the care of the Abolitionist's grave. Some years ago 20 public-spirited citizens contributed enough money to purchase the John Brown farm and it was presented to the state. Legrand Cannon of New York built the iron fence about the grave and a fine flagstaff was planted, from which Old Glory floats over the resting place of the man who was executed for insurrection against the government.

Inside the house Reuben Lawrence shows the visitors the study where John Brown sat and brooded over the wrongs of the black slaves. The little room is preserved almost as it was when Brown lived there, and on the walls is this inscription: "Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them." As souvenirs of the visit Reuben will sell you photographs of the place or cakes of delicious maple sugar produced from the maple trees on the place. In this way and by tilling a few acres of the land he makes enough to keep him, but his appreciation of the honor of guarding John Brown's grave is such that he would suffer many sacrifices rather than relinquish it.

The old homestead and the grave of John Brown are located three miles from Lake Placid, and it is one of the drives that very few summer visitors miss. The way is over fine mountain roads and there is enough historical interest attached to the place to make a pilgrimage to John Brown's grave well worth while.

LARGE CROWD CRUSHED BETWEEN TWO TRAINS

Unusual Accident at McDonald Results in Serious Injuries to Three Persons.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

M'DONALD, PA., Aug. 20.—Hemmed in on a narrow platform between two trains at the McDonald station of the Panhandle railroad last night, three of a crowd of 50 were seriously injured and a number of others are suffering from shock. The injured are: Miss Lulu Neabit of Oakdale, who had her foot amputated; William Harper of McDonald, and Samuel H. Birdill of Wilkinsburg.

The injured were standing among the crowd awaiting the arrival of the 8:52 p. m. east-bound passenger train for Pittsburgh, on a small platform, which separates the east-bound passenger track from a freight siding at the station. As the passenger train drew up to the platform, an eastbound freight train ran through the switch to a siding, and caught the crowd between the two trains. Those standing near the edge of the platform were struck.

The accident caused great excitement and the panic-stricken people rushed back and forth on the platform in an effort to escape from the trap. Miss Neabit is the daughter of E. N. Nesbit of Oakdale, and a niece of Col. John W. Nesbit, United States pension agent. She was placed on the passenger train and taken to her home in Oakdale. Her foot was so badly mangled that it was found necessary to amputate it. Mr. Birdill is bookkeeper of the Mellon National bank of Pittsburgh, and is well known.

CLOSING BIG DEAL.

Pittsburgh and Chicago Capitalists Are After Property in McKeesport Valued at $500,000.

The papers in a real estate deal involving $500,000, are expected to be signed by a number of McKeesport realty dealers, who have been working for some time in the interests of Pittsburgh and Chicago capitalists. The property involved is the house at Fifth avenue and Walnut street, owned by Dr. T. L. White, and the Lyceum building adjoining, making practically a whole block of the most desirable property in Fifth avenue, where realty is selling at $2,500 a foot front.

Recently the intending purchasers notified the McKeesport real estate men that they had about $500,000 for Fifth avenue property, providing they could get it at the right figures, and while the prices asked by the present owners are said to be high, the contracting parties are only $10,000 apart on one piece and $5,000 on the other. In anticipation of the sale Dr. White has secured an option on another bit of Fifth avenue property upon which he will at once begin the erection of a modern theater building, it being understood that the present opera house is to be replaced by a large department store and business block.

IS A USEFUL PRISONER.

Young Brown Hustles for His Temporary Home at Central Station.

There is one person at Central station who is a hustler and draws no salary from the city. He is Isaac Brown of 219 Morris street, Glocester, N. J. Brown left his home last May to work for a contractor on Michigan. Finding the work too heavy, he went to Detroit. Getting no work there he finally drifted east, arriving in Pittsburgh on Saturday morning. Brown went to the police station and seeing Inspector R. H. Robinson asked to be permitted to stay in the station house until a letter could be sent to his mother at Glocester.

Inspector Robinson not only granted Brown's request, but also wrote the letter for him. Since Brown has been in the station house he has devoted all his time to cleaning up the cellroom and polishing all the brasses in the place. The boy is not only giving his labor for his board, but is doing what many of the intoxicated lodgers should be compelled to do for their night's lodging.

Interrupt Mary's Entertainment.

Mary Stevenson, aged 30, whose residence is mostly in the open air, was before Magistrate Abernathey at Allegheny Central police station yesterday morning. She was found in a vacant domicile in Madison avenue, joyfully entertaining a crowd of disreputable looking men. The men fled when an officer appeared, but the woman was secured, not being a sprinter. She was sent to jail for 30 days.

GOES EVERYWHERE FOR NEWS FOR SUNDAY READERS

Gazette's Emissaries in Four Corners of Globe After Matters of Interest, and Finding Them.

If there was anything of importance happened in the world on Saturday which was not correctly chronicled in yesterday's Gazette, we have not yet discovered what it was. If there was anything which the people wanted to read about and failed to find in the great Sunday journal, their complaint has not yet reached this office, and complaints of that kind are usually filed early. The Sunday Gazette was everywhere on Saturday hunting up scraps of interest for its Sunday readers. Up in Iceland, down in Sicily, in the mountains of Spain, on South American steppes, among the gold diggers of the Yukon, with the mill men of Woods Run and the politicians of Philadelphia and our own city. It was all one. Those who knew anything had to "give up," and as a result the great paper went to its readers running over with just the kind of news that the people like to read. Eliminating the news columns the Sunday Gazette was a complete magazine in itself. It contained as much feature and fiction enjoyment as one finds generally for twice the cost in the monthly periodicals. And this great paper fairly teems with the best every Sunday. If you haven't been getting it regularly, borrow one from your neighbor. The newsboy on your street will have another steady customer after that.

President Roosevelt is exerting himself to prevent a break in the peace negotiations. The Japanese armies are prepared for a general advance if the negotiations fail. The czar is determined to concede neither indemnity nor Sakhalin. Baron Hayashi, Japanese minister to Great Britain, says the war will continue unless Russia concedes the indemnity clause. The czar's ukase, promulgating the national assembly, was formally read before the Russian ruling senate. China must stop the boycott against American goods or be held responsible for loss sustained by American shippers. Emperor William announced he and the empress will not receive presents on the 25th anniversary of their marriage, but money contributions for charity will be welcome.

Yellow fever continues to find victims at New Orleans. The Great Northern railroad made a sweeping reduction in grain rates throughout its territory. A fatal automobile accident befell a party of Newport's 400. Jones & Laughlin company will contest the assessment of its Lake Angeline mine. Judge declared that Taggart household was in perfect harmony at one stage of its existence.

August A. Richter of New Orleans says yellow fever situation is considered much more serious than it really is. Controller Larkin denied the right of councils to bond the city. New equipment with improved features has been secured for the Pennsylvania's 18-hour flier. New plans of the Baltimore & Ohio obviates the need of wharf for new passenger terminal here, and may accelerate construction. Seven persons were injured in a collision on trolley cars in Allegheny. Chief Bennett started a reform in Sunday selling in Braddock. Mayor Hays seeks relief by long nap in the afternoon, while crowd in office is kept waiting. Millvale girl, scared by remark of a neighbor, threw herself into the river. Last week was the banner one for murders in this county. Mayor Hays says Director Moore must be consulted before he will agree to a fender test September 5.

Brooklyn beat the Pirates, 3 to 2. Hoyt rode a fast mile on the Charles river track. Youngstown beat Homestead in a game in which the pitchers figured in all of the run getting. Seymour of Cincinnati is still the leading batsman in the National league, but Hans Wagner is closing up the gap. The grand circuit races at the Hudson river track, Poughkeepsie, ended with excellent sport.

New York stocks were dull, but closed firm at the highest prices of the day. The weekly bank statement showed a large increase in loans and a large decrease in surplus reserve. Wheat was bullish.

BRADDOCK STORES CLOSE BECAUSE OF SUNDAY ORDER

In compliance with an order issued by Chief of Police William Bennett of Braddock, all the fruit, candy and cigar stores in the borough were closed yesterday. Drug stores were permitted to remain open. In the First ward alone about 40 fruit and confectionery stores conducted by Italians and Hungarians were closed. No attempt was apparently made to violate the rule laid down by the chief, who is an active worker in the First Baptist church of Braddock.

Arrest a Salem (O.) Man.

George C. Trotter of Salem, O., who is alleged to be a fugitive from justice, was arrested yesterday at Third avenue and Smithfield street by Detectives Louis Leff and Oscar Seiferth. Trotter is said by the detectives to be wanted in Salem for a serious crime.

WILL HOLD SERVICES FOR THE WORKINGMAN

Clergymen to Preach Appropriate Sermons on Sunday Preceding Labor Day.

In response to a plea from the Rev. Charles Stetzle, superintendent of the newly devised department of church labor of the Presbyterian church, with headquarters in Chicago, local Presbyterian ministers will on September 3, the Sunday preceding Labor day, devote at least one of their sermons in preaching to workingmen. The request to do this has been general, and it is expected that 7,000 Presbyterian clergymen throughout the country will devote themselves in this manner on this day.

The department of church and labor was created by the Presbyterian church for the purpose of meeting workingmen on common ground with a view of co-operation. One of the unique achievements of the new department has been the adoption of "fraternal delegates" between ministerial and labor unions in nearly 50 cities throughout the country. These "fraternal delegates" are conceded the privileges of the floor in the co-operating organization but, of course, have not the right of vote.

The department of church and labor takes a non-partisan stand on labor troubles, affiliating with labor unions because of their representation of the various crafts. It is hoped that by establishing these bonds of friendship much can be accomplished for the cause of good citizenship, municipal reforms, and the removal of such evils as intemperance, gambling, Sunday work, social evils, child labor, sweatshops and unsanitary tenements.

Special subjects are being prepared by local Presbyterian clergymen that will not only appeal to workingmen generally, but which may tend to interest churchgoers and encourage their co-operation in joining in the general cause for the improvement of all.

SIXTEEN KNOWN DEAD TAKEN FROM WRECK

NORFOLK, VA., Aug. 20.—The bodies of two more victims of the Kingston & Greenville excursion railway wreck of Thursday were found today in the western branch of the Elizabeth river, near the scene of the accident. This makes 14 bodies in all that have been recovered from the river, with two injured dead in St. Vincent's hospital here, making 16 known dead up to this time.

ONE MAN IN THE HOSPITAL, AND THREE UNDER ARREST

During a fight in South Tenth street yesterday morning William Kuchinski was hit on the head with a bench and his skull fractured. He was taken to the South Side hospital and Julian Kuchinski and Constant Baranski were arrested. At the hearing yesterday morning the men were held to await the result of Kuchinski's injuries. Yesterday afternoon Alexander Sukinski was arrested, charged with being implicated in the affray.

CARRIES RATTLER IN A LUNCH BOX

Supt. Tretow Refuses to Buy Snake for the Highland Zoo From Visitor.

TWO MORE LIONS ARE BORN

A young man from Morgantown, W. Va., walked into the crowded Highland zoo yesterday afternoon with what appeared to be a lunch box under his arm. He inquired for Superintendent Tretow, and exhibited to that official the box and the contents. Instead of a luncheon the box contained a live rattlesnake, five feet long, which the young man proposed to sell to Superintendent Tretow for $2.

"We have so many snakes donated to us that we do not pay for them," said Tretow. "The best we can do is to put your name in the newspapers. Most people are glad to get that for their donations to the zoo."

"Oh, gosh, I want to get the price of a couple of meals out of this snake, at least. I had an awful time catching him. I will take it downtown, and if I cannot sell him I will bring him back and give him to you," and the owner of the snake departed.

The snake exhibition is by all odds the most popular feature of the zoo. All day yesterday there was a dense crowd around the glass cases in the center of the zoo, where the snakes are kept. The principal attractions in the collection were the boa constrictor and the anaconda, which were donated over a week ago. The boa constrictor, although only a baby snake, is fully six feet long and the anaconda is longer. Superintendent Tretow has now 20 snakes, a garter snake having been donated during the past week by Henry Wenzel of Lexington avenue.

Two Lion Cubs Born.

Two lion cubs were born at the zoo Saturday. The mother of the cubs is Martha Washington, who was born on Washington's birthday, 1899, and who has given birth to 15 cubs. The father is Schenley George, who is 14 years old. There are now eight lions at the zoo, including the two just arrived, and Superintendent Tretow proposes to sell the cubs, as he has quarters for only half a dozen of the lion species. He invites the public to send in names for the two new cubs, one of which is a male and the other a female.

Two of the painters and glazers who were employed at the Phipps conservatory went on a strike because of a disagreement with Superintendent Burke will return to work today, but the places of the other eight will be taken by new workmen.

The prospects are that the regrading of the Schenley park oval or race track will not be completed this year and that the job will extend past next February, when another appropriation for the improvement of this pleasure resort for horsemen will be asked from the city councils. The original appropriation for the work was $15,000. This amount was expended and councils then added $20,000 to the appropriation. It is stated that $35,000 will not be sufficient.

In the Trolley Parks.

It was K. of P. day at Calhoun park yesterday and hundreds of knights of Greater Pittsburgh, accompanied by the state delegates who attended the celebrations at McKeesport last week were at the resort. The concerts were given by the Knights of Pythias band, Harry Burgoyne, coster singer; Lewis and Chapin, singing comedians, and Ruby Owen Company.

At Oakwood the Carnegie Concert band, directed by W. J. Hartz, played to two big audiences. The Fernande May trio, instrumentalists, and Austin and Company, comedy slack wire artists, assisted.

Southern park had a favorite in Mayer's Braddock Library band. Mitchell and Marron, originators of the two-man minstrel company, and the Chidwick trio furnished the vocal and comedy end of the program. Young Buffalo and his troupe of Sioux Indians held a public reception.

Kennywood park had immense crowds yesterday afternoon and evening, and for their entertainment there was first-class band music, a very good acrobatic turn and a long list of other forms of diversion. The concerts by the Homestead Library band, directed by Edwin B. Dolan, included some of the finest classics as well as descriptive numbers and selections from popular operas and musical comedies. The St. Belmos trio of aerial acrobats gave the free feature act. They will be replaced by the Gilmore family of aerialists, contortionists who have a reputation for daring and novel acts. The band and the Gilmore family will remain all week.

This week's vaudeville bills at Southern and Oakwood parks comprise four feature acts and thrilling motion pictures. On Southern's bill are Robinson and Grant, Hilputian comedians; the Weavers, aerial acrobats; Lillian Beeler, phenomenal violinist, and McCarty and Reina, black face comedians. Oakwood's bill is headed by Rooney and King, in 20 minutes of melody and mirth; Myers and Rosa, manipulators of the traveling discs, Waldorf and Mendez, comedy acrobats, and Heywood in character changes. The cameragraph will have entirely new subjects.

BAKER LEAPS WITH JOY OVER RECOVERY OF RAZOR

When old man Baker, a colored resident of Allegheny, living at 114 Henderson street, beheld his favorite razor in (restored to) evidence at the police hearing held by Magistrate Abernathey at Allegheny Central police station yesterday morning, he leaped with joy and gave expression to many words of thanks and delight. He said the razor was over 100 years old and one of his most prized treasures. It was taken from his house by his son Ben, aged 24 years, who, the old man testified, was a good-for-nothing. Ben was arrested while getting away with a lot of cutlery from the home of his parents. Ben went to jail for 30 days, to default of a fine of $25, being out of funds and friends.

Little Fire; Much Excitement.

An alarm of fire yesterday afternoon attracted a large crowd to Sixth avenue and Smithfield street. The blaze was discovered on the second floor of 543 Smithfield street, occupied by the W. E. Sitteren Company. It broke out under a closet in the rear of the second floor, but from what cause is unknown. The damage amounted to $5.

After La Grippe

The after-effects of La Grippe is a weak, broken-down, nervous system. It leads to many distressing complaints.

The system needs a nerve medicine, like to restore nerve energy, and give the organs power to perform their various functions.

"One winter I had LaGrippe three times, and it left me in a terrible condition. After doctoring for some time without any apparent improvement I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and it has done wonders for me. I recovered my usual strength in a short time. I firmly believe I should have died had I not taken Nervine when I did, for I was completely broken down and rapidly growing weaker."

MARKET MAKES RESPONSE TO THE CROP PROMISES

Money Gives Evidences of a Change from the Stagnant Condition in Which It Had Remained for Nearly Eighteen Months.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Security markets during last week made a notable response to the magnificent crop promises, the broadening business of the country and the feeling of optimism concerning a successful termination of the peace negotiations. Toward the end of the week, however, a cloud of uncertainty swept over the financial horizon and chilled the hitherto confident hopes that the war in the east would be brought to an end. The money market, in addition, gave evidences of a change from the stagnant condition in which it has remained for nearly 18 months. The demands to move the large crops of winter and spring wheat now being brought to market began to make themselves felt. Country institutions found that they would benefit by drawing on New York surpluses for internal revenue collections and other expenditures which ordinarily they would have paid out of their own reserves.

In addition the demands of trade are beginning to be felt in banking quarters. Expectations of a sustained activity in the stock market, which are pretty firmly held by important bankers, have led many concerns to increase their supplies of time funds. As a result the increased demands upon the money market have made a seasonable advance in long discount rates. Aside from this development, and the critical stage in which the question of peace or war between the belligerent nations in the east now rests, there have been few new important developments in the financial situation.

As was to be expected, the railroads traversing the grain fields of the west were the first to feel the effects of the government's August crop estimates. With one or two exceptions the shares of these properties are now selling at the highest price of record. Judged by the ordinary measures of the question of values, including income return, the prices of practically all the standard railroad stocks have passed beyond the investment point and have become purely speculative. Yet, judging by the events in the stock market during the week, there is a general confidence that the future will bring forth the materialization of events that are now looked upon as probabilities and possibilities.

There were heavy realizing and liquidation in certain quarters by those who did not wish to accept the chances of nonfulfilment of the promises of increased dividends, greater earning power, etc. But events also proved that there were recruits in the speculative market sufficiently large in number to accept the offerings of the conservative element. Deductions were also made that there was noticed for the first time in several weeks a disposition to sell. The stock market broadened and all the indices of an active speculation in store were apparent. These are the usual phenomena of speculative markets.

Aside from the question of peace or war between Russia and Japan one hears the opinion expressed freely at this juncture that there is little risk attending the purchase of standard railroad stocks at this level of prices. The argument is made that with the enormous quantity of wealth taken from the soil and the impetus to general business as a result of the employment of the newly acquired wealth the earning power of railroads and industrial corporations are bound to increase for the next year at least. The deduction is then made that present prices of stocks are not speculative ones, but represent present earning powers.

Doubtless the uncertainty concerning the outcome of the peace conferences at Portsmouth has prevented a larger volume of stock business, for in the current events in the commercial world there are many daily developments which would tend to promote confidence in the assertions and predictions of existing prices, if they are justified or not. Bank clearances are expanding on a remarkable scale, railroad earnings show substantial increases and practically every line of business is prospering. In the bond market there is a distinct line drawn. In the safe and absolutely conservative bonds there is little business being done. In the speculative issues the collateral and debenture and the various quasi bonds, there is considerable activity and strength displayed.

From these various developments and conditions it can be safely inferred that the security markets have set sail on a cruise in the waters of speculation. Just at the present time conditions are promising, and the only unfavorable feature marring the outlook is the question whether Russia and Japan will elect to continue the war, through their inability to agree on terms of peace. In some influential quarters one hears that it will make little difference to the course of prosperity in the United States whether the war continues or ends. While this opinion is held in banking quarters the fact remains that the question is a highly important one to our money market. It is true that in event of a favorable termination of the peace negotiations, both nations will enter the money markets of the world as borrowers. It is also a foregone conclusion that if a compromise is not agreed upon, and the commissioners return home having failed to make peace, further war loans will be made.

It depends on the nature and size of the indemnity which Japan is insisting upon whether the war is to end or proceed. The optimism with which the security markets have regarded the peace negotiations has not entirely disappeared, for there is still an undertone of confidence that matters will be amicably arranged. In such event, the money markets of Europe and America will be ready and willing to finance peace requirements. Here, with a great and broadening family business, such a demand will undoubtedly force higher money rates. In event of withdrawals of credits from this market to Japan and to Europe, a strain may develop, unless shipments of corn and wheat and other merchandise are made in sufficient quantities to offset the demand. In this connection, little help can be expected from the cotton crop of the south. Europe apparently has obtained sufficient cotton during the spring months at lower prices to fill its immediate necessities, and foreign spinners are now looking askance at 10½-cent cotton.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(Copyright Cable.)—Not only has the general cheerfulness, to which reference was made last week, continued in the market this week, but a general advance in prices has taken place. On the whole, a fairly confident feeling prevails in the city that peace is near, the argument being that Japan and Russia would not have prolonged the discussion and agreed upon so many points had they not intended to act reasonably upon the more important ones about which discussion has been postponed, and that unless the Japanese demands are quite unreasonable, it is undoubtedly to the interest of Russia to accept them.

Almost the last event of market interest was the buying of very large blocks of securities by a prominent firm, which sets for, or at all events, under the inspiration of the Hongkong and Shanghai bank. This is looked upon as a very hopeful sign, indeed, because it is assumed that the Hongkong and Shanghai bank acts upon special knowledge of the far east, and if it gives the tip to buy, the man who runs away and sells will have only himself to blame if he comes to grief.

In view of the uniformity of the pessimistic reports cabled from the scene of operations, the general cheerfulness of the markets may be considered all the more remarkable; but it was so the whole week through, yet, though at the end came the placarding of the city with newspaper bills stating there was no hope of a settlement, on the top of all came the increased cheerfulness with which the markets closed, so that obviously the house and those whose opinion it voices, does not share the gloomy forebodings which were sent from your side of the Atlantic.

Under the better market circumstances it can easily be understood that the Saturday holiday did not receive altogether a unanimous welcome. It is held that if peace is announced to a closed market Paris will set ahead of London, and London will be left lamenting. The American railroad market had undoubtedly been the most active and most consistently bullish section of the house during the week, as it had been for some time previously.

This was owing naturally to the favorable crop reports and to the very optimistic statements which have come to hand regarding the coal, iron and steel industries, but what people here are asking is when and to what extent is there a likelihood of the realization of the predictions cabled over here that the increased dividends lately decided on by such roads as the Union Pacific, Illinois Central and Baltimore & Ohio, will be followed before long by an improved distribution on the part of other companies which have been for years past devoting large amounts of their net earnings to betterments and improvements, and which now are no longer under the necessity of retaining such large portions of profits for capital purposes.

But the fact remains that while business in Americans is still mainly on the professional account, it has gradually increased among enterprising outsiders, who believe the improvement in prices is going to continue.

Are Bailed Out by Women.

Tom Booth, aged 18, of 1518 Pennsylvania avenue, and Tony Zang, 18, of 36 Avery street, Allegheny, were arrested yesterday afternoon for shooting "crap" in Madison avenue, Allegheny. Zang is said by the Allegheny police to be under indictment for another offense also, and Booth to have been up for larceny at the last term of court. They were not long in the station when two women put up $10 each for a hearing this morning.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN THE LOCAL MARKETS

Sugar and Flour Each Drop Ten Points Saturday and Coffee Advances Fifty.

The most interesting day of last week was Saturday. After holding firm all week there were several important shifts in quotations just following the noon hour Saturday. All of them were unexpected. Sugar broke down 10 points while coffee advanced 50. Potatoes advanced to $3 a barrel and flour was reduced another 10 cents. The action of flour was the only one which was not more or less of a surprise.

The week was a good one for business in all lines, the local dealers stating that it was greatly in excess of the corresponding week for the past two years. Indications that the improvement in trade which has been noted during the summer has been a substantial one with a promise of permanency. There were but few changes in quotations and such as were announced were in favor of the consumer. The cut in flour and sugar Saturday were the two most important and were scarcely offset by the advance in coffee. The coffee advance came on the free offering in the eastern markets, and chiefly as the result of reports concerning the condition of the Brazilian crop. Raw sugar is reported unsteady, but dealers have affirmed for the past week that the sugar market was very firm and the prospects favored an advance. The cut of Saturday was, therefore, something of a surprise. The price is now below what it has been for several years.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.—

Receipts Saturday were: Pennsylvania, 17 cars hay, 3 cars corn, 10 cars oats, 5 cars straw, 4 cars feed, 4 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car corn; Lake Erie, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn, 1 car rye.

The grain market during the week remained steady, fluctuations being in a very narrow margin. Corn receipts have not been heavy, especially car. The market could use a few more cars of hay. While receipts of oats have been large the demand continues good and very few cars are left over. Hay continues in light receipts and arrivals of good grade of timothy, both new and old, are readily picked up. Clover hay is scarce and wanted. Straw remains steady and milfeed supply is fully equal to the demand.

Results Are Not Encouraging to the Men of the Drill

Discoveries in the lower southwest during the past week were decidedly tame and of little interest to operators in general. The wells were uniformly small and confined to the old fields. A very large percentage of all of the work under way in the lower southwest and Southeastern Ohio fields consists of drilling over territory that had not been too closely developed in the past. In time the old wells would take out the oil, but the desire to keep up production to a reasonable point has been the incentive for starting much of that kind of work. The failure to find new producing territory has left no other course open for securing even a small amount of new production. At best operators will begin winter with a greatly reduced production.

The larger companies have in the past held in reserve a certain amount of territory that could be developed and bring the desired result, but this is no longer the case. Except in the deep sand districts there is considerable territory that can furnish small pumpers, but operators are waiting for an advance in the market before they can feel that it is a good investment to operate it. The search in the shallow sand districts has gone forward as well as a closer development of the old fields. Few new pools have been discovered and many barren wells have been encountered in both new and old territory.

Outside of the deep sand districts operators would not hesitate to begin active development work if the chances were the least favorable for even light wells. In all of the lower southwest there has not been a shallow sand pool discovered this year, and the few extensions to the old fields have not proved profitable. At times discoveries have been made that called out considerable new work, but in the end more dusters than producers have been encountered and the loss was greater than the gain, when it came to balancing the expense account.

The most profitable shallow sand districts are the Berea grit development on Yellow creek in Calhoun county, and the Big Injun development at Wick, in Tyler county. For regularity of the producing formation and the average size of the wells the Yellow Creek district has led all others. The Big Injun pool in Tyler county came the nearest to presenting gushers and the old wells showed better staying qualities than any other district.

In both districts operations have been declining for several months, and most of the old wells have fallen off in production, but in the Wick district there are still six or eight wells that have an individual production of more than 50 barrels a day.

Yellow creek has fewer wells with a production of 50 or more barrels a day, but it is completing quite a good many that start at a higher figure. The other limits of the producing area have been fully defined, but there is some experimental work under way and starting in certain parts of the county. Along the dividing line between Calhoun and Roane counties there is a little experimental work, and it is possible that it may result in the discovery of a new pool.

In Gilmer county the South Penn Oil Company is starting some new work. This county has not been thoroughly drilled over and it may be able to furnish some new production. In Pleasants, Wood and Ritchie counties there is very little new work. During the week another dry hole was added to the long list of failures that have been completed in the Bonds Creek district during the year.

In the deep sand districts, the best showing made by any of the wells drilled into the sand was the South Penn's No. 4 on the A. C. Bailes farm. When drilled through the Gordon and given a shot it produced 65 barrels the first 24 hours.

In the Wallace district two very light pumpers were completed and there is no room to expect anything better from that development. On the Ohio side operators are not meeting with any success in the discovery of new pools. The search for new producing territory has not been entirely abandoned, but there is a marked falling off in wildcat operations.

The new development on Wells creek, Jefferson county, is the most promising. During the week the Cashier Bros. drilled in their No. 8 on the Black farm and secured another 75-barrel production. It now these brothers seem to have about the richest territory in the pool. Some outside work is due to get the sand this week and if it proves satisfactory will extend the pool.

Down in Guernsey county, in what a few months ago was regarded as territory capable of presenting profitable producers, dry holes have been encountered and there is nothing to look forward to in that section.

In the shallow sand district in Washington, Morgan and Noble counties, light wells and dusters are the rule. In Washington county more work is being done than in any other. It is nearly all in old drained territory and attracted but little attention.

With the exception of the new development west of the Bukerstown tunnel, Allegheny county, very little new work is starting. Several good strikes recently in the Burgettstown development, Washington county, have been the incentive for a little new work.

AMERICAN WINS FAME IN FRANCE

WON MANY CELEBRATED CASES

(Special Letter to The Gazette.)

PARIS, Aug. 17.—An occasional visitor from the United States, and now and then some member of the American colony here, acquires an evanescent celebrity, on some ground or other, in the political, artistic, social or literary world of Paris. There is only, however, one single case on record of a native-born citizen of the United States, being admitted to practice at the bar in France, and there achieving such distinction that the highest political honors in the gift of his adopted country may fall his way at any time. Thus, there is the possibility that a man who was born a citizen of the United States may sooner or later be elected to the presidency of the French republic!

Frederick Allain, who personifies this unique privilege, was born in New Orleans, May 2, 1859. His father, a Frenchman by birth, had gone to America in his youth, and establishing his home in New Orleans, became a prominent member of the medical profession there, and was the physician-in-chief of the French hospital in that city, where he died a martyr to his indefatigable efforts in behalf of his fellow citizens during a violent epidemic of yellow fever.

Young Allain was educated partially in France and partially in the United States, and upon leaving college studied American and international law in the office of a prominent firm of New York lawyers. Later he came to Paris, and diligently devoted himself to the study of French law, and becoming a French citizen, was admitted to the Paris bar in 1886. Fortune favored the young advocate from the start, for it was scarcely three months after he was admitted to the bar that his name became a familiar one in the community through the part he played as counsel for the defense in a criminal trial that was one of the sensations of the day in Paris. His client was Julia Rothschild, a beautiful woman, who was charged with the attempted murder of her husband, Lieut. Montano, an officer of the French navy. The young couple had only been married a few weeks before in London, and were living in Paris, when a violent quarrel occurred between them, in the course of which the wife seized a revolver and shot her husband in the arm. The social prominence of the parties invested the case with great local interest, and the thrillingly impassioned speech of the young lawyer, pleading for the acquittal of the accused, created a veritable sensation, the effect of which was enhanced by the jury's prompt verdict of "not guilty."

His Eloquence Remarkable.

It was only a short time after this that the young American again attracted public attention by securing a verdict of acquittal in another conspicuous criminal case, in which the prisoner was the wife of Marquet, a well-known actor, connected with the Odeon theater. The woman had discovered her husband at supper with one of the Odeon actresses, and, carried away by jealousy, had shot him. At the close of the young lawyer's eloquent plea, the entire courtroom rose in a body and applauded vociferously.

At the French bar a singular system is in force, which does not prevail elsewhere. All newly-admitted members are obliged to wait for a period of five years before they can be formally enrolled as forming part of the "Order of Advocates," an honorary qualification corresponding in some respects to our "bar association." This sort of probationary period is designed to aid in the sifting of wheat from the chaff, and the new practitioner is subjected to the most critical observation, not only as to his professional qualifications, but as to his personal character and attributes.

The young Louisianian was not only elected unanimously to the order upon the termination of his "probation," but during its continuance he had so impressed his colleagues with his worth that he was elected secretary of their "conference" in 1890.

Though still a comparatively young man, the American's career has been a brilliant one, and he has frequently figured in conspicuous cases in the capital and throughout the provinces, and has occasionally acted as counsel in important law suits in Belgium, where the legal code is substantially the same as in France. As the defender of Count Prevost de Saint Cyr, in a notable court-martial, held at Cherbourg, the distinguished lawyer proved himself as powerful an advocate before the military tribunals of France as in the civil courts of the country.

One of Maitre Allain's cases brought him not only into local, but into world-wide prominence. As the attorney of the notorious Princess de Chimay, formerly Miss Clara Ward of Detroit, in the suit for divorce that was instituted against her in the Belgian courts, Mr. Allain had for his adversary the celebrated Flemish lawyer, Bernaert, the head of the Brussels bar, who was also a minister of state, and president of the house of representatives of Belgium. Inasmuch as the fair princess had incontinently abandoned her noble spouse by running off with the gypsy musician, Rigo, her counsel was practically bereft of technical defense, but so masterly was the young lawyer's plea in her behalf that the court awarded his client certain concessions that an hour or so before it would have seemed useless to hope for.

In his address to the jury, the distinguished Belgian jurisconsult paid a glowing tribute to the brilliant ability of the young advocate, and this eulogium further augmented the prestige of Frederic Allain throughout France.

Called on by Embassies.

Besides his large practice of an exclusively French character, "Maitre" Allain counts as his clients nearly all English-speaking persons who have occasion, as plaintiffs or defendants, to appear in a French court, whether civil or criminal. Though it is as a civil practitioner that Frederic Allain has chiefly gained his high position at the Paris bar, his general reputation in the community has largely resulted from the notoriety of many of the criminal cases in which he has represented the prisoner. In certain of these cases, the accused, an American or Englishman, has appealed to his embassy for protection, and either embassy invariably selects Maitre Allain as counsel for the prisoner. Thus, three years ago, the distinguished lawyer was engaged by the British embassy to defend an English burglar, Gilmore, who nearly murdered a woman whose house he had entered to rob. Though the entire community clamored for the exportation for life of the criminal, Maitre Allain made such a pathetic plea for the prisoner that the court only awarded the man a four years' imprisonment.

Another client of his, the anarchist Leveville, escaped scot-free, thanks to Allain's eloquence, while two other anarchists, implicated in the same plot, but defended by other lawyers, were condemned by the court; and the incident was rendered memorable in French criminal annals by the act of another anarchist, the celebrated Revachol, who tried to blow up the house of the prosecuting attorney in the case.

Another alleged anarchist, the Englishman Harvey, implicated in the recent attempt upon the life of the king of Spain while the young sovereign was driving through the streets of Paris, has selected Mr. Allain as his counsel, and the case will soon come to trial.

The American Demosthenes has at countless times represented fashionable American women who have been sued in the French courts by their dressmakers. He has also appeared as the attorney in the cases of American wives who have sought divorces from titled Frenchmen, or in other ways have demanded redress from grievances. He was the counsel of Loie Fuller in one or two theatrical suits for damages, and a year or so ago made a desperate and successful fight for big damages against a Paris couturier who had caused the unlawful imprisonment of an American customer on the technical ground of "contempt of court."

Speaking both English and French with absolutely equal fluency, and partaking of many national characteristics of both races, Maitre Allain is a unique personality in the French capital. Conforming himself hitherto to his profession, he has taken no part whatever in politics, and has persistently refused to stand as a candidate for the national chamber of deputies. If, however, he should recede from this stand, great possibilities will be open to him, for his eloquence would win for him a notable place in parliament—from which France almost invariably selects its chief magistrates of the republic.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Although the season is drawing to a close, there is little difference perceptible in the size of the crowd. Newcomers in large numbers arrive daily, and the proprietors of the larger and more popular cottages are finding difficulty in caring for their guests.

The Rev. Robert W. Woods of Pittsburgh led the devotional service at the Lutheran headquarters, Dean C. D. Williams of Cleveland, O., spoke to an audience of nearly 5,000 on the "Unity of the Soul," and strongly condemned the present corrupt political and commercial methods praised by men high in church and society. At the assembly convocation Judge E. P. Baldwin of Indiana gave an address on Bible study.

Miss Marie P. Hofer addressed the Young Peoples Christian Ethics meeting at the Girls' club, when none but young people were admitted. The women's open air meeting, held on the hillside overlooking the lake, was addressed by Miss May Wightman. Mr. George T. Robinson was the speaker at the open-air meeting at the same hour, held on the baseball field.

Dr. Russell Conwell was the guest of honor at the reception given at the Baptist headquarters at the close of his lecture Saturday afternoon. Judge N. Z. Davis of the supreme court of Ohio is with Mrs. Davis, enjoying a brief visit.

Recent well-known visitors from Pittsburgh are: Dr. W. R. Thompson of the Eleventh United Presbyterian church, Mrs. Thompson, and their daughter, Miss Margaret; Miss Myrta, Mrs. Alonzo Turkle and Mrs. Charles F. Stixil.

CUBA'S GREAT PROSPERITY SURPRISES EVEN OPTIMISTS

Weaith of the Island Will Be Doubled in a Few Years—Little Republic Has Annual Trade Balance of $40,000,000.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—In a statement furnished to the press today, regarding "the prosperity of Cuba," Senor Quesada, the minister from that island, declared that its prosperity was such that even the most optimistic are surprised. There was no section of the island, the minister said, which had not received a great impetus commercially and industrially, and with the continuance of "the excellent sanitary conditions, the increasing production and investments, it is to be expected that in a few years the wealth of the country will be doubled."

Continuing the statement says in part:

"The greatest proof of the development of Cuba during the administration of President Palma can be found in the study of the last figures of the official report of the Cuban treasury, showing the results of the conservative, wise and progressive government which has ruled the island during the last three years.

"The receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, were $61,751,085, of which $25,344,322 was from public revenues and $35,806,773 from special accounts, of which $31,677,836 was the product of the loan for the payment of the Cuban army. The customs receipts were $4,848,942 more than the previous year. The exportations reached $101,000,077, the importations $61,-335,684, leaving a trade balance in favor of Cuba of about $40,000,000.

"During the year payments were made to the amount of $44,510,373, of which $17,-286,490 was for the regular budget and $23,-666,985 for paying the army claims.

"The total receipts for the year were $61,751,085, which plus $7,099,584, the balance from the previous year, gives a grand total of $68,984,714. Deducting expenditures there was a balance of $24,340,307 in the Cuban treasury on the first of July last, which, after making some allowances for outstanding credits, leaves about $22,000,000 of surplus.

"Part of this will be devoted to public works and part to serve as basis for the money to be applied to settle the balance due to the army. The government of Cuba, which has so far been very careful of contracting financial obligations, will deal with this matter in the same conservative and commendable manner in which it has heretofore handled the questions which have arisen, and always inspired by the best interests of the country and mindful of her laws and international obligations."

The Cost

of purity alone exceeds all other costs of our brewing.

The absolute cleanliness; the purified air; the filtering; the aging; the sterilizing of every bottle—to omit these precautions would save half our expense.

But purity means healthfulness; and that is worth more than all else.
